SOCIAL SECURITY PLAN MAY ASSIST FINANCING BY U. S.

New Section Expected To Permit Treasury's Use of Voluntary Old-Age Annuity Funds for Federal Expense.

INSURANCE BOARD TO BE INDEPENDENT

House Committee Declines To Raise Amount Which One May Receive Under Annuity Plan.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—A new section for the social security bill, designed to make additional millions available for federal financing, was submitted to congress today by the treasury.

It would let the treasury take money paid in by persons who were buying voluntary old-age annuities and use it to defray expenses of the government. The money would be replaced by long or short term government securities.

Already the treasury had disclosed its intention to use the billions raised for compulsory contributory annuities to buy up federal obligations, thus taking tax-exempt securities off the market and forcing private capital to find new fields for investment.

Its proposal to permit similar use of the voluntary annuity payments, members of the house ways and means committee said, would vastly expand the possibilities of federal financing.

Under the bill, it was said, the government after 30 or 40 years could literally raise billions promptly by selling its securities to the annuity fund.

The suggestion to use the voluntary funds was disclosed by committee members, as they heard suggestions that they should reverse their previous action and give back to Secretary Perkins and the labor department control over the second form of old-age annuities—those financed by taxes on pay rolls and earnings.

Over Miss Perkins' protest, and over objections of the cabinet committee on economic affairs, the ways and means committee decided that the proposed social insurance board should be an independent agency instead of under the secretary of labor.

Not Aiming at Miss Perkins. The committee members denied that the change had been made because of any desire to decrease Miss Perkins' authority—but, one and all, they smiled when they denied. One said the committee also had sided with Secretary Morgenthau against Miss Perkins and agreed that farmers, domestics

Hope Is Lost for 28 In Caribbean Tragedy

CASTRIES, St. Lucia, Windward Islands, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Hope was abandoned today for 28 persons lost in the capsizing Sunday of a motor launch three miles off the coast of St. Lucia.

Those lost were excursionists, part of a group of 102 persons who packed the little craft and turned it over in the shark-infested waters of the Caribbean.

Seventy-four survivors and the bodies of six of the 28 lost were landed at the village of Laborie, where it was said there was a bare chance some of the missing might be found alive in the overturned hull of the launch—if it is still floating.

Safety Pins Swallowed As Way To Earn Living

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Discussing east iron—there's the stomach of Willie Jackson.

Willie, his face smeared with soot to make him even blacker and playing cards in his hand, stopped on a street car and began his show.

Carefully pressing the sides of a safety pin catch together he showed the faster after a few grimaces and gulps.

He swallowed 52 pins before the police interfered.

Willie headed it was his only livelihood.

TAX, NRA ISSUES MAY BE MERGED TO SPEED ACTION

Committee, However, Despite Democratic Proposals, Will Await Estimate on Income Returns

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The inclusion of new tax and NRA legislation into one bill to facilitate congressional action on both controversial subjects tonight was being considered seriously by democratic leaders.

The proposition has been submitted to the house ways and means committee. This group, however, wants the Senate to act first on NRA legislation because investigations into the organization's setup have been launched in that branch.

A decision is to be reached by the committee after March 15 receipts from income tax returns disclose how much money will be needed to keep the ordinary budget balanced.

Excise taxes returning around $420,000,000 annually expire in July.

These and returns from import levies on copper, coal, lumber, petroleum and mail, returning $1,000,000, are figured in on the budget for the next fiscal year. In addition, the postoffice department is on record in favor of continuation of the three-cent interior first-class postage rate, which also expires in July. The extra postage has been estimated as returning around $70,000,000 a year.

The strategy adopted by the administration is to delay action on tax legislation until late in the session so that if congress exceeds the president's budget, he may demand additional revenue to meet the increased cost.

Already congress has exceeded the president's ordinary budget by $76,000,000 of which $60,000,000 is for seed loans to farmers and $16,000,000 for restoration of the five per cent pay cut on federal employees. These seed loans are made by the treasury from the $880,000,000 proposed for relief.

With NRA expiring on June 10, and the tax return deadline on June 15, the committee is being urged by Mr. Roosevelt, and the executive leaders feel that time would be wasted.

54 Cases of Liquor Seized in Raid Here

Fifty-four cases of fine whisky, valued at retail prices at $3,500, were confiscated by deputy sheriffs Tuesday night in a raid on a small hotel-apartment at 120 Ellis street.

A woman who gave the name of Lois Freeman, about 23, claimed ownership of the liquor and was arrested by Deputy Sheriff S. G. Davies. She later was released on bond of $1,000.

Davies and his squad found 50 cases in one room and in another. All the liquor bore government tax seals.

REPEAL FORCES HOLD 7,000 LEAD IN ALABAMA VOTE

Count From 1,253 Out of 2,156 Boxes Stands at 77,548 For and 70,635 Against Modification.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 26.—(AP) After lagging through early returns from rural boxes repeal of prohibition in Alabama tonight moved to the fore by nearly 7,000 majority.

The vote from 1,253 out of 2,156 boxes in the state stood, for modification, 77,548, and against 70,635.

A cold wave sweeping into the state with rain, sleet and snow accompanying a tumbling mercury cut sharply into the vote, indicating approximately 175,000 ballots cast against a total slightly in excess of 300,000 in a primary last May.

In the cities throughout the day the voting was fairly brisk but in the rural sections, citizens lagged in going to the polls.

Three Questions on Ballot. The referendum today presented three questions to the voters to serve as a guide for the legislature in enacting liquor control laws. The questions follow:

1. Shall Alabama's present laws against the manufacture, sale and distribution of prohibited liquors be modified?

2. Shall the manufacture, sale and distribution of beer (malt liquor), and wine (vinous liquor) be legalized in Alabama?

(The vote on this issue, on the basis of 1,253 boxes counted, stood 77,002 for and 68,673 against.)

3. Shall the manufacture, sale and distribution of hard liquors (spirits) be legalized in Alabama, under strict state regulation, but under no conditions any saloons?

Excise taxes on this issue, on the basis of 1,253 boxes counted, stood 76,188 for and 70,607 against.

The referendum was a plank in the platform of Governor Ellis Graves in his campaign for the democratic nomination last summer, and was approved by the legislature with scarcely any opposition, both wets and dries agreed to submit the issue to the voters.

Although modificationists and prohibitionists conducted vigorous campaigns, there was only a moderate amount of interest manifested, and the only spectacular development of the campaign was the surprise pronouncement of the Ku Klux Klan.

The Klan once a year, in Alabama politics, had been dormant for years, but in an eleventh-hour move scattered handbills over Birmingham yesterday proclaiming the Klan's opposition to any change in existing statutes.

Second Vote in Two Years. The referendum today marked the second straight repeal and anti-repeal vote in the state within two years, but was the first on a direct state question in 28 years.

Alabama, although regarded as one of the driest states in the Union, has never voted to sustain prohibition in a direct vote. The voters in 1909 rejected a proposed prohibition amendment to the state constitution and in 1933 voted to repeal the 18th amendment by more than 30,000.

Prohibition in Alabama dates from 1901 when the local option law was enacted by the legislature, and many counties immediately outlawed saloons. In 1915, under legislative enactment, the state was made dry in 1915, and the present statutes providing severe penalties and unusual features for informers and search warrants, was enacted.

With prohibition the dominant issue in the presidential campaign of 1932.

Revived From Death, Texan Again Dies

TYLER, Texas, Feb. 26.—(AP)—W. A. Strange, 71, is dead—six days after he had been pronounced "dead" by a physician who later started heart action again with an adrenalin injection.

The former sheriff of Smith county died last night.

Last Wednesday Dr. Howard Bryant saw the man's heart and lung action stop while he lay on an operating table. An undertaker was summoned and an intern left with the body.

Five minutes later Dr. Bryant returned to the room, injected adrenalin into the heart and breathing started again. For six days he breathed under an oxygen tent and physicians had expressed the belief he would regain his health.

ROME, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Premier Benito Mussolini, who is sending 2,000 men a day to Africa, warned Abyssinia and the world tonight that Italy can mobilize between 7,000,000 and 8,000,000 men in an emergency.

His brusque communique was issued as the transport Leonardo Da Vinci loaded additional troops from the Peloritana division at Messina, Sicily.

The Leonardo Da Vinci, delayed by bad weather at Messina, sailed for East Africa tonight with 110 officers, 1,200 infantry and artillery troops, and 300 skilled workmen. Loading of materials on the ship was begun at Naples. The supply ship will sail tomorrow.

U.S. Probes Tax-Paying Of Atlanta Racketeers

Internal Revenue Office Activity May Put Curb on Number Men, Bootleggers—Twenty Atlantans Are Under Investigation.

The long arm of the federal government Tuesday reached out to place an indirect curb on racketeering in Atlanta when internal revenue agents launched an investigation to determine whether the city's racket leaders—men directing number games, lotteries and bootlegging—have been paying U. S. income taxes.

It was the federal income tax law that ended the activities of Alvin "Scarface" Capone, Chicago's public enemy No. 1, and landed him in a United States penitentiary. The same law has likewise checked the careers of a score or more of gang and racket leaders throughout the country.

Records in the internal revenue office here are being checked on orders of Collector W. E. Page to determine whether income tax returns for 1933 were filed by at least 20 men engaged in what is popularly called "racketeering," it was admitted Tuesday.

The investigation, however, is being conducted in a discreet manner. Agents are believed to be at least four individuals believed to be the leaders in the number racket. One of the men was reported to have had an income of in excess of $30,000 during the year 1933, despite the economic distress prevalent throughout the country.

"We have started checking our files to determine whether men described to us as racketeers have been paying income tax returns," Frank Boyce, assistant internal revenue collector, admitted. "If these men have not filed returns on 1933 incomes, we will summon them to appear within 10 days as to their income for that year."

"If we find that any of the individuals in question have earned large incomes and have failed to file tax returns, and if it is evident that their failure to file was with criminal intent, then we will submit the cases to United States Attorney Lawrence Camp."

The United States attorney said that he was prepared to push to the limit any income tax violations brought to his attention.

Explaining Law. "The internal revenue law provides that where a person has innocently failed to file an income return and pay the required tax—that is, where a man honestly believed his deductions placed him in the exempted class—it is only necessary to pay the tax due plus a 25 per cent penalty," Mr. Camp explained.

"In cases where persons of large income have failed to file returns and it is self-evident that such failure was deliberate, that person can be placed on trial in the federal court and if found guilty given a prison term."

M'CRACKEN BEGINS 10-DAY JAIL TERM

Decides Against Another Appeal of Sentence for Senate Contempt.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—William P. MacCracken, former assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics, voluntarily surrendered and entered the District of Columbia jail at 4 p. m. today to serve his 10-day sentence for contempt of the senate.

The supreme court recently ruled MacCracken would have to serve the contempt sentence imposed by the senate for permitting the destruction of papers subpoenaed by the Black air mail committee.

Chesley W. Journey, sergeant-at-law of the senate, made the announcement and made public a statement by MacCracken saying:

"After careful consideration I have concluded not to petition the supreme court for a writ of habeas corpus in accordance with the stipulation I entered into with the sergeant-at-law of the senate. I am surrendering to the contempt sentence. This I do conscious of the fact that I have done no wrongful act."

Journey said MacCracken "telephoned me at 3 o'clock he wanted to surrender."

"He said he would meet me at the jail at 3:45 p. m.," Journey added.

"But he lost his way and didn't arrive at the jail at 4 o'clock, when he surrendered and entered the jail."

Death Grazes Party of Atlantans When Boat Catches Fire in Gulf

Sixteen prominent Atlantans who had a brush with death on the wind-swept Gulf of Mexico when their fishing boat caught fire 12 miles off the coast Saturday night while on a fishing trip were back in Atlanta Tuesday relating the thrilling adventure.

Members of the party, to which E. C. Shattley was host, was composed of Fulton County Commissioners George F. Lougino and J. A. Ragsdale, George H. New, Welborn Cody, Dr. R. E. Newberry, T. J. Barfield, John Whaley, H. B. Long, C. C. Sheffield, S. C. Sheffield, J. R. Brown, T. M. Bullock, Harry Reese, H. D. Gebney and John H. Harland, and set out from St. Marks, Fla., early Saturday for deep-sea fishing.

Toward midnight, as they headed in from a point 12 miles out at sea with the fish lockers well stocked, someone suggested food and the negro cook went below to the galley to carry out the suggestion.

When the cook set a match to the gasoline stove flames roared out through the doors and portholes and the gasoline-saturated galley blazed. The cook dashed out on the deck

ROBINSON BLOCKS COMPROMISE PLAN IN RELIEF DISPUTE

Labor Confident Administration Will Eventually Surrender to Wage Amendment.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Prepared for a long siege, labor today expressed confidence after a council of war that the administration would be forced to surrender on the McCarran prevailing wage amendment if it wants to get its $4,880,000,000 relief bill through congress.

Waiting to carry out President Roosevelt's orders for putting the measure through, senate administration followers nevertheless began to manifest concern today over their strategy in trying to get the country to whip democratic opponents into line.

Thus far, the reaction expected by labor leaders has had only meager, if any, results.

An effort to effect a compromise was made at a conference of democrats today including Senator Robinson of Ohio, Wagner of New York, O'Mahoney of Wyoming, and Bullock of Ohio. Wagner outlined a proposed compromise but Senator Robinson refused to accept it. All of the conferees declined to discuss the meetings other than to say that no agreement was reached.

Roosevelt's Return Awaited. Meanwhile, democratic chiefs awaited President Roosevelt's return to Washington from Hyde Park Thursday, saying no further action would be taken by them until then.

A significant parley also was held today by Senator McCarran, democrat, Nevada, author of the amendment, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and seven other labor chiefs, after which they reaffirmed their position and indicated ultimate victory.

Contradicting Secretary Ickes' prediction earlier in the day that the relief bill would be passed eventually without the prevailing wage provision, Senator McCarran forecast that the conference his amendment "ultimately will be enacted into law."

Green said: "We are going to stand firm, both for the amendment and for the entire bill. We are acquainting our people with the provisions of the measure."

McCarran said: "It is right in policy and is in line with the administration which was put into office by labor. There will be no compromise. There is no breaking down in the ranks of its supporters in the senate or any place else."

The Nevada described as "fallacious," statements by Robinson that the wage amendment would increase the cost by more than $2,000,000,000.

A movement considered by republicans to force the senate to pass the measure, where it was sent last week, was dropped later when it was found that the parliamentary procedure would endanger the McCarran amendment. Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, said their strategy would have to be revised.

Glass Ready for Hearing. Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, chairman of the senate appropriations committee, said he was ready to call the committee together at "any time" to consider the measure but that he would await instructions from the president. The senate, meanwhile, adjourned until Thursday.

At Hyde Park, Mr. Roosevelt was silent but democratic chiefs said they expected him to maintain his opposition against the amendment, basing this expectation on his threat to veto the bill if it was approved by congress.

Senator Borah said that none of the democrats would support the measure.

La. Solons Convene For Special Session

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long assembled his Louisiana legislature in special session tonight for a general expansion of his already far-reaching "dictatorial" powers.

At the order of Long and under the protective guns of more than 100 state militiamen the lawmakers assembled in the capital on short notice and made ready to grind through the legislative mill whatever bills or resolutions their desire desired.

Sudden disclosure late in the day that the session was being convened to consider anything that might be submitted to the legislature by Governor O. K. Allen, Louisiana's chief lieutenant, fell like a bombshell on Louisiana.

Interest immediately attached itself to state headquarters of the Square Deal Association here, which bristled with activity as quickly as the account of the governor's official call was made public.

Vain Search Made For 'Plane' in Sea

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 27. (Wednesday)—(AP)—After searching for more than four hours for an airplane reported down at sea off shore here, Coast Guard Officer C. D. Toler and municipal life guards early today came ashore and announced they were satisfied reports of the accident were groundless.

Coast guard division headquarters at Jacksonville had ordered a seaplane from Miami and guard boats from Fernandina, Savannah and Fort Pierce to join the search here. Toler said he would advise the headquarters of his findings and felt sure the rescue plane and boats would be recalled.

Father, Son Indicted In Daughter's Death

BY SPRINGS, Mo., Feb. 26. (AP)—George Jackson, Jasper county farmer, and his 13-year-old son, Kermit Jackson, were indicted for murder by the county grand jury here today in connection with the shooting of Hester Jackson, 15, daughter and sister of the defendants.

Mrs. Alice Jackson, mother of the dead girl, and Louis, an older brother, were indicted as accessories to the crime, which was at first reported as suicide.

The youngest Jackson boy, Kermit, is said by officers to have admitted in a confession that he shot his sister on instructions from his father.

SENATE DEFERS ACTION FOR DAY ON REPEAL BILL

Measure Slated for First Reading Today; Temperance Head Says Hearings Will Be Held.

The state senate Tuesday received but declined to give first reading to the bill passed Monday by the house providing for a state-wide referendum on repeal of the prohibition law, and plans to give the measure first reading and refer it to the temperance committee today.

The bill reached the senate Tuesday after the period of unanimous consent had been ended, despite the fact that Clerk Andrew J. Kinney, of the house, and his staff had worked all night in an effort to get it to the senate in time for first reading Tuesday. Unanimous consent to give it first reading was sought but there was objection and under the rules of the senate it cannot be brought up for first reading until today.

Senator John McGehee, of Tallapoosa, chairman of the temperance committee, announced that the committee would hold public hearings on the bill before reporting it back to the senate, but whether or not the committee will back its chairman in this could not be learned. It will take a majority vote of the committee to decide the issue and it is known that some members of the committee are not in favor of delaying the matter by hearings. Senator McGehee and other members of his committee were present when the house temperance committee held hearings on the bill and those opposed to hearings by the senate group said Tuesday that they saw no reason for further hearings.

There is suspicion that the senate will bring down in the house hearings on either side and that there was not likely to be anything new brought out if the senate committee held a hearing.

Dryers Want Hearings. As in the case of the house committee the dryers, including McGehee, want hearings on the wet amendment. Senator David Atkinson, of Savannah, is in favor of acting without further delay.

Senator Atkinson said Tuesday that the bill would be brought up for first reading today.

Toccoa Church Burned Twice Within a Year

TOCOCA, Ga., Feb. 26.—The new Liberty Baptist church was completely destroyed by fire this afternoon. The church had been erected to replace the one which was destroyed by fire March 11, 1934, had just been finished at a cost of $10,000, and was prepared for the laying of the cornerstone which was scheduled for next Friday, with E. D. Thomas, grand master of Georgia Masons, presiding.

Definite traces of incendiary were found and Sheriff Fred A. Stowe is making an investigation using bloodhounds. No arrests have been made. There is suspicion that the church was set on fire by the same incendiary who burned the old structure last year.

The church was one of the most modern rural churches in northeast Georgia, and had received donations from all over the state for its construction. Dr. A. T. Cline, the pastor, said that the new church was entirely free from debt, and that in his opinion both fires had been set by a determined person.

Hauptmann Counsel Preparing Appeal

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Bruno Hauptmann's counsel began today the preparation of an appeal from the New Jersey court of appeals for a reversal of his conviction in the Lindbergh kidnapping case.

The appeal is being prepared from a complete copy of a trial record obtained last year from the attorney-general's office.

Hauptmann, confined to the death house in Jersey state prison, was cheered by word from C. Lloyd Fisher, an attorney, that about $7,500 had been pledged for his defense fund.

Hauptmann had written a letter to his mother, Frau Pauline Hauptmann, who lives in Bautzen, Germany, yesterday, his first letter since he was transferred to the prison from Flemington. Otherwise, he continued the regular death house routine.

STATE-WIDE VOTE ON BEER BEATEN; TAX AND FEES SET

Tax Fixed at $2.50 Per 31-Gallon Barrel With $1,000 and $500 Fees for Manufacturers and Wholesalers in State.

The house of representatives Tuesday passed the Culpepper beer legislation bill, after increasing the tax from $1 to $2.50 per 31-gallon barrel, and providing that all revenue yielded by the measure shall go for the purchase of free school books.

The vote on the measure, which came after efforts to provide for a state-wide referendum had failed, was 112 to 58. The bill got the same number of favorable votes as did the bill calling for submission of prohibition repeal Monday but mustered 58 more "nay" votes.

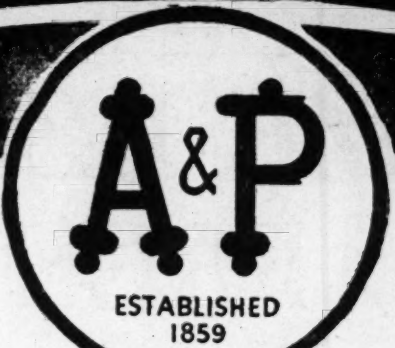

Like the repeal proposal the beer bill was immediately transmitted to the senate.

Sir Basil Zaharoff's Name Is Brought Into Gould Suit

Society Matron Questioned Concerning Friendship for "Mystery Man of Monte Carlo."

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The mystery man of Europe, Sir Basil Zaharoff—whose name bobs up in muckings making, European political intrigues and the general goings-on along the Riviera—was brought into an American family court squabble today.

Mrs. Wilma E. Gould, a pretty matron of 40 years, who is suing members of her husband's family for $500,000 damages for allegedly conspiring to compromise her to obtain divorce evidence, testified she knew Sir Basil intimately at Monte Carlo.

The divorce proceedings were dropped when the husband, Edward B. Gould, was confined to an upstate sanitarium.

In 1922, Mrs. Gould said, her husband left her in Paris, returning to New York.

"Where did you go then?" asked Leon M. Prince, one of the defense counsel.

"I went to Monte Carlo," she answered.

"Did you know Sir Basil Zaharoff, the mystery man of Monte Carlo?"

Mrs. Gould, who speaks with a mixture of deep south and British accents, answered:

"You mean the mystery man of the world?"

"Did you know him intimately, no matter what he's the mystery man of?" the lawyer persisted.

"Yes, I did."

The witness said she had dined with Sir Basil and other noted persons—"including David Lloyd George"—at Monte Carlo.

"Were you ever with Sir Basil alone?" the lawyer asked.

Then Henry A. Utherhart, counsel for Mrs. Gould, jumped to his feet, exclaiming:

"Why he's 85 years old. What are you driving at?"

This brought a long round of laughter. After the uproar was quieted down, Mrs. Gould hastened to say:

"I walked in the garden with him and considered it quite an honor."

The defense attorneys, who repeatedly have been striving to introduce testimony designed to discredit Mrs. Gould's past life and to show she was a woman of adventure, shifted their attack.

This was hotly denied.

Unruffled by the proceedings, Mrs. Gould alleges her husband's family and a detective agency conspired to "frame" her and hired Harry Gerguson—the one-time pants presser from Hillsboro, Ill., who rode high for a time in society posing as one Prince Michael Romanoff—to compromise her.

Mrs. Gould alleges Gerguson doped her drink in a night club, took her to his apartment and addressed her. The relatives, with detectives, she alleges, arrived just at the proper moment.

No less unruffled than Mrs. Gould, she said she then went to the hotel where Sir Basil was staying.

"I didn't you come back to New York planning to divorce Mr. Gould so you could marry Sir Basil?" Prince asked.

"This was hotly denied."

Unruffled by the proceedings, Mrs. Gould alleges her husband's family and a detective agency conspired to "frame" her and hired Harry Gerguson—the one-time pants presser from Hillsboro, Ill., who rode high for a time in society posing as one Prince Michael Romanoff—to compromise her.

Mrs. Gould alleges Gerguson doped her drink in a night club, took her to his apartment and addressed her. The relatives, with detectives, she alleges, arrived just at the proper moment.

No less unruffled than Mrs. Gould, she said she then went to the hotel where Sir Basil was staying.

SHARED WEISS MONEY, ECKERT TELLS COURT

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Robert Eckert, himself charged with the crime, testified against Roy Francis Wiley and Martin Farrell today at their trial for the slaying of William Weiss, relating in detail the abduction of Weiss and division of the ransom money.

"We've got Big Nose in there and nearly had to break his head to get him in," Eckert quoted Farrell as saying after Weiss was abducted last October 26 and forced into an automobile.

Eckert, for whom a separate trial has been obtained, was the prosecution's "star" witness. His testimony implicated Walter Legenza and Robert Mals, leaders of the "tristate gang," who since have been electrocuted for killing a mail truck driver in Virginia.

Legenza said he fired the first shot and then Wiley shot him, Eckert said. "Then they said they tossed him in the creek."

"Mals was mad" when he found the ransom money, Eckert testified. "Only eight grand, the cheap price, I guess we'll have to do him up," Eckert went on quoting Mals.

He denied he witnessed the killing, but said he received $500 of the ransom money. Mals, Legenza, Farrell and Wiley got $1,500 each and the remainder was split among three other persons, Eckert testified.

Legenza and Mals, as well as Wiley and Farrell, who are brothers-in-law, were fugitives at the time. The men on trial escaped through a sewer from the eastern penitentiary at Philadelphia, where they were serving long terms for robbery. Mals and Legenza had shot their way out of a Richmond prison.

Mrs. Lena Weiss, the slain man's widow, and Albert C. (Buck) Mayer, his business associate, were other witnesses, the latter telling how he delivered $8,000 to ransom Weiss. The latter was killed after the gang got the ransom money.

Mrs. Eckert, who is the wife of the slain man's brother, testified that she saw the ransom money being delivered to the gang.

"I am trying to show there was no money paid for anything except what it protected the interest of Melbank and concluded liability to assessment in cases of failure."

Melbank Surety was organized and financed in January, 1931. A. W. Johnson, put $100,000 Grade A bonds into a joint account already kept with R. B. Johnson said, and this account used the bonds and other securities to set up a $5,000,000 concern.

The witness said the surety company furnished bonds to guarantee deposits of small banks—particularly those of public funds—at a time the banks were unable to get such protection elsewhere.

Johnson, under close questioning, said he knew of no bonding by the company of any other than Melbank members. There are 28 banks directed by Melbank, whose stock is held by the estate of R. B. Johnson and the Colescoed Company jointly.

"Some of the banks unable to take advantage of this bonding arrangement failed, too, didn't they?" asked Johnson.

"There were bank failures in the district, yes," replied the witness. Johnson also said A. W. and R. B. Johnson had borrowed $900,000 from the surety company.

"Account Number 48."

Turning to Melbank's "account No. 48" at a brokerage house, Johnson testified a 91-page record showing transactions from January, 1930, until November, 1934.

On December 28, 1933, Johnson said Melbank told him to sell about $250,000 in stocks and bonds of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, Interborough Rapid Transit and Aluminum (British) Company, which showed a loss of approximately $61,000. This was deducted from Melbank's 1933 income, Johnson said.

On the same day and from the same brokerage house, Johnson also testified he had repurchased the same block of stock for the Colescoed Company. He said he had been instructed, at a special meeting of Colescoed's executive committee to acquire the securities.

Johnson testified earlier that after reorganization of Colescoed in 1931, A. W. Melbank had taken no hand in the management of the concern, into which he put $85,000,000 in 1931 and since has added, through gifts to his children, approximately $50,000,000 additional. Paul Melbank and his sister, Alisa, are sole owners of Colescoed's 200,000 shares of common stock. A. W. Melbank holds all of its $20,000,000 preferred stock.

MELLON AID TELLS OF TRANSACTIONS

Secretary Admits Selling Stocks As Agent to Establish Losses.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The government led the confidential secretary of Andrew W. Mellon today through masses of figures and books, seeking to show that while heading the treasury the financier aided certain western Pennsylvania banks during the 1932 crisis "for his own interests."

Howard M. Johnson, the witness, also was forced to put into the record testimony that in 1933 Mellon was selling stocks through him as agent to a brokerage house, establishing an income tax reduction, and repurchasing the same stock the same day for the Mellon family's coalesced company.

This transaction, asserted Robert H. Jackson, counsel for the internal revenue bureau, was similar to numerous other alleged "shadow sales" by Mellon in 1931 on which the government bases its $3,080,000 additional assessment that now is being heard by the tax appeals board.

Arguing against an objection by Frank J. Hogan, Mellon's counsel, to further delve into activities of the Melbank Surety Company, organized by Mellon and his brother, R. B. Mellon, Jackson asserted:

"Why, if your honor please, this has everything in the world to do with it (the case). Here is the Colescoed Corporation, in which the (brothers) would have, or did have no interest, but dominating, here is its subsidiary, the Smithfield Securities, interested in the bank stocks formerly owned by A. W. Mellon. Here is the Melbank (corporation) operating those banks. And who comes to the aid of those institutions? A. W. Mellon and R. B. Mellon personally, showing as have contended at all times, the direct interest of these gentlemen in these securities, just exactly as though they never had been transferred."

Continuing, Jackson said Hogan had placed it on record that borrowings were made to protect certain banks and he charged the statement was not "accurate." It was "borrowed to protect their interests."

"I am trying to show there was no money paid for anything except what it protected the interest of Melbank and concluded liability to assessment in cases of failure."

Melbank Surety was organized and financed in January, 1931. A. W. Johnson, put $100,000 Grade A bonds into a joint account already kept with R. B. Johnson said, and this account used the bonds and other securities to set up a $5,000,000 concern.

Schooner "Marietta" Grounded in Florida

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Captain Dave L. Nice, St. Petersburg, skipper of the two-masted fishing schooner, Marietta, Ga., that ran aground in four feet of water at Middle Cape, 50 miles from civilization, more than a week ago, was taken from the ship today by Lieutenant George Bowerman, of the Miami air station.

The skipper and his crew of five had been without food or water for seven days, their fuel supplies of gasoline and oil are also exhausted, Lieutenant Bowerman reported when he arrived here in an amphibian plane with Nice aboard.

Captain Nice told of harrowing experiences when crouching panthers and screaming wildcats drove his men away from a campfire they built on the beach. The two men returned to the disabled vessel late this afternoon and tonight the coast guard cutter Sankey is attempting the pull of the grounded boat free. The crew has been supplied with food and water by the assisting coast guard cutter.

The fishing vessel left Miami February 5 for fishing banks near Dry Tortugas but drifted around in a gale after losing two anchors.

INSPECTION FEES ROW GOES TO U. S.

Housing Project Problem Referred to Washington by Manager.

D. A. Calhoun, manager for the federal government on Techwood and University low-cost housing projects, Tuesday took up with federal officials in Washington the controversy over payment of about $30,000 in city inspection fees, but had no comment to make on the matter.

Monday Mayor Key served notice on officials of the A. J. Jones Construction Company the city expects the contractor to pay the fees and threatened to treat occupants of the completed projects as persons residing outside the limits of the city unless they are paid.

If that were done, a double rate plus a 50-cent monthly service charge would be added to water bills; children attending Atlanta schools would be subject to non-resident tuition, no police, fire or sanitary service would be furnished the area.

Calhoun Tuesday said the final draft of specifications for contractors on the projects did not contemplate payment of city inspection fees or purchase of a building permit.

His communication with Washington, however, indicated he is attempting to obtain an amendment to the contract whereby the federal government will be willing to make such payment. He indicated he believed a "satisfactory arrangement will be forthcoming."

The fees are for a building permit, electrical and plumbing inspection fees. No definite division of the estimated $30,000 which would go into the city treasury could be obtained Tuesday because of the fact city officials have not yet studied the construction plans. The $30,000 is only an estimate.

KUYKENDALL RENAMED BY THEATER OWNERS

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Motion Picture Theater Owners of America re-elected E. L. Kuykendall, of Columbus, Miss., president of the organization at the fifteenth annual convention here last night.

The following vice presidents were elected: M. E. Comerford, Scranton, Pa.; W. S. Butterfield, Detroit; M. A. Lightman, Memphis; D. N. Berenstein, Los Angeles; and A. J. Brynalski, Washington, D. C.

Walter Vincent, of New York city, was named treasurer, and Edward G. Levy, New Haven, general counsel. Kuykendall and Berenstein were also elected to the national board of directors along with 20 other theater owners.

D. A. R. Candidate Seeks to Prevent Mrs. Roosevelt From Becoming Issue

By BESS FURMAN.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—An attempt to prevent Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt from becoming a D. A. R. campaign issue was made today by Mrs. William A. Becker, candidate for president-general of the patriotic organization.

Apparently seeking to countercheck a move by her opponent Mrs. Becker said in a statement she had not meant a mere acknowledgment of a gift book—which called Mrs. Roosevelt a radical—to be used as an endorsement of the publication. She said furthermore that the blurb about her on the jacket of the book without her permission.

Mrs. Becker's opponent for president-general is Mrs. Flora Myers Gilentine, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and the latter had apparently referred to the Mrs. Roosevelt incident in her platform.

Mrs. Becker said she decried "the attempt to inject the radical issue into the D. A. R. election." Mrs. Gilentine's platform had said "that the society should not be used for dissemination of propaganda for any outside groups," and that it opposed "interjection of partisan and political issues."

The "red network" blurb quoting Mrs. Becker was discussed not long ago at a press conference by Mrs. Roosevelt. The president's wife at that time denied allegations made about her in the book, which criticized the New Deal in general. The text of the blurb which quoted Mrs. Becker, was:

Death Penalty Asked For Wiley and Farrell

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Feb. 26.—(AP)—The commonwealth today asked for "a verdict of murder in the first degree" with such penalty as you see fit against Roy Francis Wiley and Martin Farrell, brothers-in-law.

The jury was completed today at a press conference by Mrs. Roosevelt. The president's wife at that time denied allegations made about her in the book, which criticized the New Deal in general. The text of the blurb which quoted Mrs. Becker, was:

CITY BOARD BACKS MOSQUE PURCHASE

Finance Committee Votes To Ask Council Authorization of Deal.

Atlanta's finance committee Tuesday afternoon definitely sanctioned purchase of the Shrine mosque-Fox theater properties for use as a city auditorium and voted to seek council authorization Monday for City Attorney Jack C. Savage to prepare the proper legal papers necessary to consummate the deal.

Action of the committee followed a two-hour session during which there was much heated debate. Adoption of the resolution by council Monday is expected to pave the way for submission of a definite purchase contract for future approval by that body. Councilman John A. White, chairman of the public buildings committee of council and also a member of the finance group, predicted that council will sanction the resolution as approved by the finance committee and that council ultimately will buy the properties for the $725,000 purchase figure quoted.

In addition to White, Mayor Key, Mayor Pro. Tem. Ed. Gilliam, William L. Moore, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, A. L. Belle Isle, president of the Atlanta Convention Bureau, Alderman E. Glover Hailey, and former Mayor Pro. Tem. J. Allen Couch spoke for passage.

W. Brown Hayes, chairman of a citizens' committee; W. T. Harrison, president of the South Side Civic Federation; Virgil W. Shepard and Mr. E. Andrews, civic leader, opposed the purchase.

Under the resolution approved, the city council goes on record as favoring the purchase of the properties with the specific provision that it does not cost the city anything, and asks attorneys for various interests involved to prepare the legal papers for action.

Only eight members of the finance committee were present at the meeting. The committee was composed of: Councilman Aubrey Milam, chairman; Dr. C. W. Childs and Frank Wilson—did not cast a ballot; Alderman J. Sid Tiller, who voted against it.

Councilmen George B. Lyle and Alderman Hailey and Gilliam cast their ballots in favor of the resolution.

FREEDOM TO LEARN, NOT TO TEACH, IS MIND'S LIBERTY

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Academic freedom was defined today for 2,500 of the nation's educators as "the freedom of the learner to learn, not the freedom of the teacher to teach."

The definition was offered by Dr. John W. Studebaker, United States commissioner of education, who presided at the 65th annual convention of the National Education Association. The "jury" consisted of educators, each of whom expressed his views on public education in the present changing social world.

The advocacy of new social doctrines in the classroom was vigorously attacked by Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, Washington, District of Columbia.

As a superintendent, he said, "I should like to have help in defining what that new social order is for which the schools are to prepare. Teachers should confine themselves to giving pupils a clear idea of existing social order, some understanding of its strength and weaknesses."

KELLOGG INDORSES LESS MEAT IN DIET, MORE CITRUS FRUIT

BABSON PARK, Fla., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Dr. John H. Kellogg, of Battle Creek, Mich., today told the annual scenic holidays business conference that the people generally should eat less meat and more oranges for better health.

"Florida would have no overproduction of oranges if people would eat what they should," he said.

Dr. Kellogg's address opened the conference. Tomorrow Kellogg will speak on "Some Fallacies of the New Deal." John H. Boushall, Tampa banker, on "Our Latin-American Trade." A. Varnell, of Los Angeles, on the Florida citrus control program, and Chester A. Davis, of the agricultural adjustment administration at Washington on "What the AAA Means to Florida."

FANLESS FAN DANCER DRAWS $100 FINE

BOSTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—A fanless fan dancer cavorted on a screen in a courtroom today—but not for long.

Joseph Witkun was on trial for showing the picture in a private exhibition in a Park Square garage on February 19. Judge Michael J. Murray excluded spectators from municipal courtroom and asked that the picture be shown.

After a few flashes, however, he roared: "That's enough, stop it. Defendant is found guilty and fined $100."

ARKANSAS WINE BILL SIGNED BY FUTRELL

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 26.—New avenue of sale to Arkansas wineries, already manufacturing a product for out-of-state consumption, and the first legal sale of wine in 20 years were in store today for Arkansans with Governor A. Marion Futrell's signature on a Cigarette bill.

Those who have a taste for the vintage of alcoholic content of more than 3.2 per cent may tip their glass with legal sanction for the first time since 1915, when the state's home dry law was enacted. This is made possible by an emergency clause attached to the bill. Equally elated over the new legislation are 20 wineries and one wine distillery listed by the state revenue department as operating in Arkansas.

Premonition of Death Bared by Hamilton

MCKENNEY, Texas, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Raymond Hamilton, once the daring lieutenant of Clyde Barrow's gang and now the most sought fugitive in the southwest, has a premonition of violent death.

Early yesterday while spending the night at a farmhouse after a brush with officers near here, he commented to one of his prisoners, Mrs. William Mayes.

He was jumped by the law three times; and the third time he was killed.

He fingered an automatic rifle and added: "This makes the second time for me."

Rogers' Annual Food Show Will Be Held March 14-23

Formal announcement of the fifth annual Rogers Stores Food Show and Exposition, to be held at 230 Spring street, was made Tuesday by officials of Southern Grocery Stores, Inc., operators of Rogers Stores. The announcement was made at a conference of company officers with John W. Gates, who will have charge of the show. They are shown above as follows: Seated, left to right, C. H. Moore, vice president of the corporation, and Scott W. Allen, president; standing, left to right, Mr. Gates and Neal Ponder, advertising manager of Southern Grocery Stores. Staff photo.

Fifth annual Food Show and Exposition of Rogers Stores will be held March 14 to 23, inclusive, in the building at 230 Spring street, it was announced Tuesday by Scott W. Allen, president of Southern Grocery Stores, Inc., operators of Rogers Stores.

In co-operation with The Atlanta Constitution, the Food Show and Exposition will be participated in by the Atlanta Junior League and the Atlanta Woman's Club. It will be in charge of John W. Gates, national food show director.

Shattering all records in magnitude, the exposition will occupy the entire third floor of the building at 230 Spring street, formerly occupied by Central Motors.

Practically every manufacturer of food products in the United States will participate in the show, and in addition there will be a vast number of other attractions, including a complete display of household furnishings and electrical appliances, a fashion show, cooking school and automobile display.

The Ford Motor Company will take over the greater portion of the first floor of the exposition building to display its line, which will probably include some of the exhibits from a Century of Progress in Chicago last year, it was announced.

The Georgia Power Company will sponsor the cooking school, which will be conducted by a group of nationally famous culinary experts, according to Mr. Gates. Among the features will be a fashion show unusual in scope and variety.

Numerous prizes will be distributed daily during the entire period the show is in progress, including electric refrigerators, all types of household appliances, furniture, and foodstuffs. Two Ford automobiles will be the grand prizes, one to be awarded the opening day of the show and the other the closing day.

"Rogers Stores fifth annual Food Show and Exposition will be the greatest of its kind ever staged in the southeast," Mr. Allen declared. "We have taken over the Spring street building so as to have ample room for the varied exhibits and will put forth every effort to make this show an educational benefit to men, women and children."

Morgan Will Dispose Of Ivory Miniatures

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Officers of J. P. Morgan disclosed tonight that the financier plans to offer for sale his collection of miniatures on ivory.

The miniatures will be sold at auction at Christie's, in London, later in the season, it was said, the London market being the recognized center for this type of art.

The collection, consisting of about 900 miniatures dating from the sixteenth to the nineteenth centuries, was assembled by the late J. Pierpont Morgan, father of the present financier.

Four Miners Perish In Penn. Cave-in

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Buried under a cave-in of tons of rock and slate, four men died today in the Oliver mine of the Pleasant Valley Coal Company, and four others were injured, two seriously. The victims included a father and his son.

Out of a work gang of 11 men called to clear away the wreckage of a half-dozed mine cars which had been derailed, only three escaped death or injury in the cave-in.

The dead: John Surayor Sr., 50; his son John Surayor Jr., 22; Pete Christine, 40, and Charles Jaynes, 30. Survivors said the slide occurred without the usual cracking in the roof. The four men killed were submerged.

Food More Important Than School--Marland

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 26.—(AP)—If it's a choice between a square meal and schooling for hungry children, Oklahoma's millionaire governor, E. W. Marland, will take the square meal.

So, in effect, he told a group of teachers, school board members and patrons who gathered today to find out what could be done to keep Oklahoma's schools from closing March 1.

"It is vitally important to keep the children in school for the next three months," Marland said, "but it is more important to feed about 50,000 hungry children who are destitute and can not go to school at all."

'BABY NRA' PROPOSED TO ARIZONA SOLONS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 26.—A "baby NRA," following provisions of the administration's national program, was introduced in the Arizona house of representatives today in the form of a "state recovery act."

Under its provisions the state would have power to regulate industry and trades in a manner similar to that of the NRA. The governor would be empowered to approve codes of fair competition.

SWIFT JUSTICE DEALT TO VIENNESE ROBBER

VIENNA, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Within three hours of a court verdict condemning him for murder in Vienna, a robber was hanged here today. At Wells, a Nazi leader was condemned to death for possessing explosives. His execution was deferred.

FHA MODEL HOME TO REMAIN OPEN UNTIL MARCH 31

The model home erected at Peachtree and Linden by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with its Better Housing Campaign will be kept open until March 31 as a result of the continued interest in the dwelling, it was announced Tuesday by W. R. Ulrich, chamber secretary.

More than 125,000 persons have inspected the home since it was opened October 29, and there has been no let-up in interest, Mr. Ulrich said. It was originally planned to close the model dwelling February 28, but the date has been extended for a month. Atlanta business houses who supplied furnishings for the house have agreed to the extension.

Solicitation of pledges in the chamber's modernization campaign, designed to aid the building industry and provide employment, has been concluded, with total pledges amounting to $5,033,543.88, according to the chamber secretary. It is estimated that Atlanta property owners have already expended $1,750,000 for repair and modernization work in carrying out their pledges.

HARVEY, SMITH FACE NEW U. S. INDICTMENTS

Pair May Be Charged With Violation of New Fugitive
Law, Camp Hints.

Added grief loomed Tuesday for Leiland Harvey and Andrew Smith, designated as Georgia's leading public enemies, who are being held in Fulton tower in bonds of $50,000 each pending appearance before the federal grand jury here on charges of robbing a messenger for the National City bank of Rome of a $9,875 pay roll.

United States Attorney Lawrence Camp intimated that the grand jury would be asked to indict the pair on charges of violating the new fugitive law, which makes it a federal offense to commit a felony in one state and then flee to another state. Harvey and Smith fled to Virginia after allegedly having committed a series of crimes in Georgia.

Atlanta Detectives J. J. Chester and W. M. Holland have announced that a "lineup" will be held at Fulton tower this week, at which victims of robberies committed in the city during the closing months of 1934 will be asked to view the two prisoners.

H. B. Bullard, manager of a store at 10 Broad street, notified the detectives Tuesday that he had viewed newspaper photographs of Harvey and Smith and that he was positive he could identify the latter as one of two men who robbed him last October.

The purpose of the "lineup" is to clear up as many unsolved robberies as possible, as city authorities have little hope of the government relinquishing the two public enemies for trial in the state courts.

Possibility that Harvey and Smith might be tried in Atlanta federal court if indicted by the grand jury in March was discounted Tuesday by United States Attorney Camp. Attorneys representing the pair may make such a request, it was admitted. Under regular procedure they will be tried in the federal court at Rome.

GRAND JURY RETURNS ROBBERY INDICTMENTS

A wave of burglaries resulted in a series of indictments returned Tuesday by the Fulton county grand jury. Three negroes were named in a true bill charging a $2,375 burglary at the home of Eddie Moore, manager of the Atlanta baseball club. The negroes, Walter Brawner, Charlie Berry and Willie Pope Barrow, all of whom have been arrested, are charged with taking valuable jewelry from the Moore home at 355 Parkway drive February 2. City detectives recovered a $1,500 ring owned by Mrs. Moore and traced the negroes from information obtained at a pawnshop where the ring was found.

James Sawyer and Walter Wright, negroes, are charged with James Walton, J. T. Moxley, Joseph P. E. Edwards, Donald and Irwin Daniel, also negroes, of perpetrating a $34 chain-store burglary on February 9. Sawyer and Wright are charged in another bill with a $350 burglary of Techwood filling station on February 12 and in a third bill are charged with Edward Donald with a burglary on February 10 in which $86 was taken from Acme market.

The holdup robbery of J. L. Price on February 12 resulted in an indictment charging Sidney Mapp, Louis Lewis and John F. Kelly with robbery and assault to murder. Price was severely beaten and robbed of a revolver. Another robbery and assault are charged to Sidney Mapp for an alleged attack on T. C. Piper, of Decatur, who was robbed of his watch and stabbed on the same day the Price holdup occurred.

Jack Johnson was named in an indictment charging a $150 chain-store burglary and George Burden, negro, was named in a bill charging robbery of $66 and a watch from Sarah Owens February 11. F. A. Ritchey is charged in a robbery indictment with snatching a watch from James Rooser, of 69 Atlanta avenue, S. E., February 21. Wilbur Yother is named in a bill charging that he robbed F. W. Johnson of $35 and jewelry February 23.

Pontiac Chiefs Visit Atlanta

Left, H. J. Klingler, president of the Pontiac Motor Company; A. C. S. Olsen, Atlanta zone manager, and A. W. L. Gilpin, general sales manager for Pontiac. These men presided over a very enthusiastic and well attended Pontiac sales conference here yesterday. Mr. Klingler and Mr. Gilpin are on a tour that will give them personal contact with every Pontiac dealer and salesman in the country. Pontiac, Mr. Klingler said, is taking the country far beyond our expectations. The country as a whole reports over a 200 per cent increase over '34. The south is leading the way with an increase of over 300 per cent. He says the entire country has its eyes on this section—the first to show definite recovery of business.

FUNERAL RITES TODAY FOR MRS. HOWARD FAIN

Mrs. Howard Parks (Aunt Kitty) Fain, mother of two well-known Atlantans, died Tuesday morning at her home on Gordon road near Adamsville. She was 75.

Mrs. Fain is survived by two sons, W. A. Fain, assistant chief of the Atlanta fire department, and Grover C. Fain, of the Atlanta police department; a daughter, Mrs. J. J. Waits, of Adamsville; two sisters, Mrs. J. L. Suttles and Mrs. J. A. Dollar, of Atlanta; a brother, S. H. A. Howell, of Adamsville; eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Funeral rites will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Bethel Methodist church in Adamsville, the Rev. Fred Van Landingham and the Rev. J. J. Banks, officiating. Burial will be in West View cemetery with Harry G. Poole in charge.

MEDICAL RELIEF BODY IS GIVEN INDOORSEMENT

The American Medical Association has endorsed the Fulton County Medical Relief Association and that organization has charged its name to the Medical Service Bureau, Dr. Allen H. Bunce, secretary of the Medical Association of Georgia and trustee of the American Medical Association, announced Tuesday.

The plan of the bureau is to give medical aid to families of moderate means by the payment of a small monthly fee in order to meet expensive medical emergencies and operations. The bureau is owned and operated by the Fulton County Medical Society, and more than 200 physicians are available to the subscribers.

NEGRO "BUG MAN" SOUGHT IN SHOOTING

Police were searching Tuesday for Willie Lee Williams, alleged negro "bug" man, who, Bessie Mae Buggs, of 128 1/2 Fort street, S. E., said, shot her Tuesday morning.

The negro woman, who was in a serious condition at Grady hospital Tuesday night, told police that the negro shot her following an argument over a lottery transaction.

Headlines Shout Their Warning; Secure Your Insurance at Once

"Two men killed in auto accidents."
"Georgia farmer dies in path of train."
"Girl critically hurt in automobile crash."

"Auto crash hurts three at Unadilla."

These headlines appeared in The Atlanta Constitution during the last two or three days. Every day you read some glaring headline telling its disastrous story of lives claimed and bodies left bleeding and maimed in the wake of the ever-growing accident wave.

Are you protected against financial suffering that follows accidents? Is the future of your wife and children safeguarded if you fall victim to the terror?

The insurance offered you through The Atlanta Constitution is issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company of Chicago, Ill., which company has already paid Atlanta Constitution subscribers over $200,000. The insurance is offered to subscribers of the daily and Sunday Constitution and immediate, dependent members of the subscriber's family between the ages of 15 and 69 on the one subscription going into the home at a small registration fee of 20 cents with application and 10 cents per month thereafter in addition to the subscription price, or $1 each per policy per year in advance to subscribers who live in Atlanta and Atlanta suburbs where we have carrier delivery. Out-of-town subscribers can have this insurance by paying $1 per policy per year in advance.

This insurance offered through The Atlanta Constitution provides for the payment of sums ranging from $10,000 for travel, $1,000 for auto and pedestrian death resulting from certain specific accidents, heavy sums for permanent injuries, and $10 weekly indemnity for total disability resulting from accidents set forth in the policy, which is at the rate of $43.33 per month.

In sending application for insurance, the applicant must state name in full, give age and occupation, and if beneficiary is desired the full Christian name of beneficiary must be given and relationship of same to the insured. Do your duty! Protect yourself and family today. Tomorrow may be too late!

ROBBERS GET $350 FROM AUTO AGENCY

Yeggs, identified through their work as expert crackmen, early Tuesday morning entered the offices of the D. C. Black automobile agency at 41 North avenue, N. E., through a skylight and opened the safe, taking an amount estimated at $350.

Detectives J. J. Chester and W. M. Holland, who investigated the robbery, said no explosives had been used in forcing the door of the safe, the five in Atlanta suburbs having used a heavy crowbar which they found in the repair department of the agency.

MRS. JULIA T. SMALL PASSES AT AGE OF 87

Grandniece of the Late
Governor Telfair Had
Many Friends in Atlanta.

Mrs. Julia Telfair Small, 87, member of a prominent Georgia family, died Tuesday morning at her home at 1026 Greenwood avenue, N. E.

She was the great-niece of the late Governor Telfair, who was Georgia's chief executive. Mrs. Small was active in the First Christian church and had many friends here.

Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at Spring Hill, the Rev. C. R. Stauffer officiating, and interment will be in Greenwood cemetery. Surviving are three daughters, Miss Marion Small and Miss Rennie Duke Small, of Atlanta, and Mrs. F. B. Arrington, of Hapeville; three sons, Jack Small, of Atlanta; Edward T. Small, of Macon, and Robert T. Small, of Hapeville, and six grandchildren.

C. J. HADEN TO SPEAK ON FARM DEBT WORK

Charles J. Haden, chairman of the farm debt adjustment commission for Georgia, will speak on farm debt adjustment work, urging the increased planting of foods and feeds in Georgia over radio station WSB at 12:45 o'clock today.

The commission is backing a drive urging the increased production of food supplies in Georgia in an effort to make this state self-supporting. The rising price of foods and the reduction of $80,000 cotton acreage makes the growing of foodstuffs of extreme importance, Mr. Haden said Tuesday.

Craven Will Address Freight Body Tonight

Leslie Craven, general counsel to the federal co-ordinator of transportation at Washington, will address the Atlanta Freight Bureau at its 33d annual meeting tonight.

The meeting will be held at the Athletic Club with dinner beginning at 6:30 o'clock. Mr. Craven will discuss the report to President Roosevelt and congress by Joseph B. Eastman, federal co-ordinator of transportation, dealing with the present transportation problem and pending legislation regarding it.

MRS. M. E. ALDREDGE FUNERAL RITES TODAY

Mrs. M. E. Aldredge, 86, a resident of Atlanta for 60 years, died Tuesday morning at the residence of her granddaughter, Mrs. Hal C. Miller, wife of a well-known physician, at 826 Springdale road, N. E. Born in Troup county, Mrs. Aldredge will be buried in the cemetery of the Bethel Methodist church, near West Point, which she attended as a girl. Services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon with H. M. Patterson & Son in charge.

Mrs. Aldredge is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Marvin M. Davies; two brothers, Albert Davidson, of Atlanta, and William J. Davidson, of Columbus, Ga.; her granddaughter, Mrs. Miller, and three great-grandchildren, Hal C. Miller Jr., Henry Davies Miller and Orme McAllister Miller, of Atlanta.

FATHER OF ATLANTAN PASSES IN DELAWARE

George E. Miller, prominent resident of Wilmington, Del., died there Friday night. He was the father of Mrs. Osborne R. Quayle, of 1307 Emory circle, N. E.

Mr. Miller was an official of the National Vulcanized Fiber Company at the time of his death, but had formerly been a teacher and president of the Delaware state board of education and of the Wilmington board of education. He was a graduate of Yale University.

His daughter, here is wife of an Emory University professor. Surviving are three other daughters, Miss Margaret Miller, Miss Florence Miller and Mrs. Edwin A. Hoer, the latter of Chillicothe, Ohio. Funeral services were in Delaware.

GASOLINE PRICE HERE IS REDUCED ONE CENT

General one-cent reductions in the retail prices of all grades of gasoline went into effect in Atlanta Tuesday morning.

The reductions established Tuesday by the major companies, following a similar reduction last week by an independent company, was quickly adopted by the independent retailers. The reductions brought the price of the regular grades of the major companies from 21 to 20 cents and the price of ethyl gas from 23 to 22 cents, while gasoline prices in the independent stations were reduced from 19 to 18 cents. Many of the major companies were selling a cheaper grade gasoline Tuesday for 18 cents.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take on two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of germ-laden mucus and toxins. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. —(adv.)

TAX, NRA ISSUES
MAY BE MERGED

be saved by lumping them together. See No Increase.

Chairman Doughton, democrat, North Carolina, of the ways and means committee, said today that, with revenues on the increase, he still hoped it would be possible to avoid an increase in taxes. He pointed out that revenues this fiscal year amounted to $2,234,000,000 as compared with $1,857,000,000 on the same date last year.

Nevertheless, he said, it was "reasonable to assume" that a decision on new legislation would be made after the March 15 income tax returns indicate the flow of revenue.

Already the copper, lumber, oil and coal blocs are active in both the house and senate for re-enactment of the import duties for the protection of domestic industry.

These issues have been obscured to some extent, however, by the fight in congress on the provision making income tax returns open for public inspection.

Senate Views Sought.

Speaker Byrns and Chairman Doughton are sounding out the senate to determine whether that branch would approve a resolution repealing the publicity on income tax returns.

When ways and means members sought to find out Secretary Morgenthau's views on the publicity proposition, they were unsuccessful. The treasury head declined to reveal his position, explaining that congress should decide the issue.

Quick action on the publicity provision is not in prospect. Because the law provides that the returns may be made known only as "soon as practical," Doughton said today there was no necessity for action on it before the March 15 returns. It would require several weeks to get the information ready for public inspection, during which time congress might act, he explained.

A Doctor Knows!

And doctors use
a liquid laxative

There's a very good reason why doctors and hospitals have always used liquid laxatives! You'd use a liquid, too, if you knew how much better it makes you feel.

A liquid laxative can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.

Just ask your own doctor about this. Ask your druggist how popular liquid laxatives have become. The right liquid laxative gives the right kind of help, and the right amount of help. When the dose is repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

People who have experienced this comfort, never return to any form of help that can't be regulated! The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara, and these are natural laxatives that form no habit—even in children. Its action is gentle, but sure. It will relieve a condition of biliousness or sluggishness without upset. It's the ideal family laxative because it's a family doctor's prescription, and perfectly safe and effective for family use.

"Leave the rest to nature"

If you are seeking something that will relieve your occasional upset safely and comfortably, try Syrup Pepsin. Give regulated doses until Nature restores regularity.

HOUSE BILL CHANGING
CHIEFS' STATUS VOTED

Measure Would Make Atlanta Fire and Police Leaders Elective by Council.

The house Tuesday passed an Atlanta local bill providing for amendment to the city charter which makes the chiefs of the fire and police departments elective by city council after the terms of the present officials, Chief O. J. Parker and Chief T. O. Sturdivant, are ended.

The chiefs at present are elected by council committees.

The six members of the house from Fulton and DeKalb county Tuesday announced that they would be glad to take up with city employees the matter of revising the group insurance plan recently passed at the request of city employees. The measure, which a number of the employees are now condemning, is the only Fulton county bill which Governor Talmadge has not vetoed.

The following statement was issued by Representatives Harfield, Almond and Ramsey, of Fulton, and Lindsey, Guess and Ansley, of DeKalb, in connection with the insurance proposal:

"The Fulton county delegation introduced and passed a bill in the house, which later passed the senate and was enacted in the law, providing for group insurance for employees of the city of Atlanta.

"At the time the Fulton and DeKalb county delegations had this bill under consideration, they were assured by representatives from every group in the city that it was entirely satisfactory and was what the city employees wanted. Since the passage of the bill, and it being enacted into law, it appears that there are a large number of city school teachers who do not want the insurance provided under this bill.

In order to be fair to everyone concerned, the delegation representing the public statement that they will be glad to have a meeting of those who are not satisfied with this bill in order that an expression representing all of those who are involved may be made, and the delegation satisfied as to what the employees of the city really desire in regard to this matter.

French 'CCC Camps'
Voted by Cabinet

PARIS, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The French cabinet today approved the establishment of forestry camps similar to the CCC camps in the United States as part of the government drive to reduce unemployment.

Forestry camps are to be inaugurated in 13 departments and the proponents of the plan said the work of reforestation and road building would offer employment to thousands of men beginning next month.

Unemployed Frenchmen will be given the preference in selecting applicants for the camps, but if not enough are available, foreigners will be accepted. Foreigners will be removed from the list.

IN RELIEF DISPUTE

The 44 senators who voted for the McCarran amendment had weakened and predicted that efforts by administration leaders to get the country to force the senate to drop the amendment would become a boomtown.

Talk of cutting the total to $1,880,000,000 to continue direct relief on its present basis was continuing among some of the conservative democrats, including Senators Adams, of Colorado, and Byrd, of Virginia.

ROOSEVELT KEEPS SILENT

AT HYDE PARK HOME

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Feb. 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt spent another day of silent observation of the senate work relief contest today, breaking his visit home to confer during the late afternoon with Raymond Moley, editor of the magazine Today and intimate aide.

Working over an accumulation of mail and special reports, the president maintained strict silence on public affairs but kept a close watch of events through telephone contact with the White House.

Moley, who has frequently consulted with Mr. Roosevelt before his speech, left without comment. He was accompanied here by Charles Sherrill, former ambassador to Turkey, who is writing a book about the president.

sentence of five years, plus a $5,000 fine. Each year that a tax return is not filed constitutes a separate offense. Thus, a man who willfully violated the law three different years would be liable to a fine of $15,000 and a 15-year prison sentence.

"If the internal revenue department will supply me with evidence that the racketeers of Atlanta are violating the internal revenue law, I will immediately go before the grand jury and request the indictment of the offenders."

Some of the 20 men whose incomes are being investigated by the internal revenue department are known to have been engaged in racketeering activities. Collector Page, but some are merely suspected of having engaged in occupations outside the law.

BIBB TEACHERS SEEK APPROPRIATION GAIN

MACON, Ga., Feb. 26.—(AP)—The Bibb County Teachers' Association has telegraphed Bibb members of the legislature to insist on a greater appropriation for public schools. Governor Talmadge recommended $4,000,000. The appropriations committee raised it to $4,100,000, but the teachers here say $5,000,000 is needed.

London, like Washington, has been troubled by starlings that roost in hundreds at night on the ledges of downtown buildings.

GIRL DEBATE TEAM
BEATS EMORY TRIO
ON ARMS QUESTION

Girl debaters of American University, Washington, D. C., defeated an Emory team Tuesday night in discussion of whether or not the United States should prevent international shipment of arms and munitions.

Arguing the question, "Resolved: That this nation should agree to prevent the international shipment of arms and munitions," American University's Harriet Reed, Ann Henderson and Mary Lesta Wakeman won the decision from John Rooney, Carlisle Taylor and George Carroll, of Emory. The girls had the affirmative and when they developed the theme that it would be practical and beneficial to stop shipment by embargoing the United States, they won. Agnes Scott, decided that was a better argument than the one put up by Emory that no such embargo would work and that our citizens could manufacture their own arms if they desired. Professor Paul Bryan, of the Emory law school, presided.

HOUSE GROUP AT WORK ON SALES TAX PLANS

Inclusion in General Tax Act Aim of Subcommittee Named by Spivey.

By JACK BATES.

Associated Press Staff Writer.

A subcommittee, composed of friends of the sales tax, was named by Chairman John B. Spivey, of the house ways and means committee, to study two plans submitted by Speaker E. D. Rivers.

One is modeled after the North Carolina act and another combines systems used in several other states, Rivers explained.

A 3 per cent gross retail sales tax is proposed in one, while the other proposes a graduated tax on prices of commodities, ranging as high as 6 per cent on $1.75 and up.

In each plan Rivers proposes to allocate the proceeds to the regents of the University of Georgia system and to the common schools. One-fourth of the total state revenue would go to the university system and the remaining three-fourths to the common schools.

If the allocation to the university system should not reach $1,500,000 annually, and that to the common schools should fall short of $4,500,000 a year, the differences would be made up in appropriations from the state treasury.

Report Ordered Today.

The subcommittee was instructed to report a sales tax bill back to the committee today. It also will study a proposal to revise the income tax law, which Rivers said he was having drawn.

Asking that a sales tax be embodied in the general tax act, which is now before the ways and

At ATLANTA'S THEATERS

Don Redman To Play Auditorium Tonight

The present popularity of orchestra arrangements calling for growling trumpets, moaning saxes, and the sudden shrill burst of a clarinet backed by the steady tomtom beat of percussion instruments is generally accredited to Don Redman, dusky Harlem maestro, who brings his Columbia broadcasting band for a one-night stand at the city auditorium Wednesday.

Redman first introduced the hotcha type of arrangements now in vogue among most of the leading bands while he was arranging for Paul Whiteman, and later transferred this style of arranging to Glen Gray, Vincent Lopez and Fletcher Henderson. Redman organized his own band slightly less than a year ago and skyrocketed to fame via a nightly broadcast from the Casino de Paree, New York's newest sensation in night clubs.

He was also heard over the Columbia Broadcasting System on a commercial program with the Mills brothers.

Whiteman Orchestra Will Play for Dance

Paul Whiteman and his orchestra will play for a dance at the Shrine Mosque next Saturday evening under the joint auspices of the Alhambra Celebrity Bureau and the Oriental Club of Yaarab temple.

The "King of Jazz" is bringing with him all the radio entertainers who appear on his weekly broadcast, and the public will have an opportunity of seeing these stars in action at the dance. Whiteman will also appear at a concert Saturday afternoon at the Erlanger theater.

Tickets for both performances went on sale Tuesday at the Iris Lee counter of Davison-Paxon's, and will be obtainable at the theater on Saturday.

DeKalb for Two Days Has 'College Rhythm'

A college comedy, with a background of beautiful girls and brand-new hit tunes by Gordon and Revel is the theme of "College Rhythm" at the DeKalb theater Thursday and Friday.

In addition to such stars as Jack Oakie, Lanny Ross, Helen Mack, Mary Brian and Lydia Robert, Joe Penner appears in his first feature production.

It's a music and comedy film about the deadly college rivals who loved the same girl and carried their feud into the business world with entertaining results. Oakie, as Love and Kisses Finnegan, the football hero, gets a job in a department store owned by his rival, realize he does not love the sought-for-girl after all, and everything turns out fine.

Seventy-two Atlanta Drug Stores Display Zoo Fund Collection Boxes

Seventy-two Atlanta drug stores, with all Jacobs stores and Lane stores included, have notified The Constitution they have placed collection boxes on their counters for dimes to be given toward the 150,000-dime fund needed to build new homes for the Candler animals and birds at Grant park. Collection boxes are being distributed to other stores as rapidly as possible and it is believed that many Atlantans, anxious to do their part toward building this greater and bigger zoo for the city, will drop in not only one dime, but larger amounts, with this opportunity presented by their own neighborhood drug stores.

Another hopeful feature of the campaign Tuesday, despite the fact that, so far, only a few more than 27,000 dimes have been deposited for the fund with the treasurer, Lewis F. Gordon, was reports coming in from a number of Atlanta schools.

Pupils Collecting Dimes. With the special permission of the board of education, pupils and teachers in all the schools are collecting dimes for the cause and four or five notified Mr. Gordon on Tuesday that expected to join the 100 per cent list—meaning they had collected at least one dime for every teacher and pupil in the school—before the end of the week.

Sponsors of the campaign drew attention Tuesday to a situation that has arisen in several instances. One dime cannot qualify the giver for inclusion in more than one 100 per cent list. For instance, if a man gives a dime at his club and that club is listed as 100 per cent, he cannot count the same dime again in making his business collection 100 per cent. In other words if a giver wants his club, his business, his church and his Sunday school class all to rank as 100 per cent, he'll have to give four dimes, one for each organization to which he belongs to qualify.

Three New Names Added. Three new names were added to the 100 per cent list on Tuesday, while out-of-town gifts included 10 dimes from Helen Dodd Elder, of Norcross, and two dimes from Joanne and Tommie Brinkley, of Marietta. The Georgia theater deposited 75 dimes from the collection box in its lobby.

Among the 100 percenters Tuesday was fire station No. 13 with 15 dimes. Others in this honor roll were the Warren Company employees with 16 dimes and the Modern Milk & Ice Cream Company employees with 37 dimes. Gifts in as large amount as each giver can spare, should be sent to either of the three Atlanta newspapers or to Lewis F. Gordon, zoo fund treasurer, at the Citizens & Southern National bank on Marietta street.

Creditors Seeking to Extradite Him, Jimmy Walker's Friends Assert

LONDON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The suspicion that James J. Walker's creditors may be planning an attempt to "put him on the spot" for failure to register as an alien during his long stay in England in the last couple of years was expressed tonight by his friends.

They recalled that a creditors' attorney pressed the former New York mayor strongly during the court hearing yesterday in order to force him to admit his negligence in not registering.

Legal experts, however, were dubious as to what creditors could gain by forcing his return to the United States, and the chief inspector of the main registration bureau indicated that he has until April 24 to register if he chooses to do so.

Meanwhile, inquiries at the home office revealed British authorities uninclined to take any action against Walker with a view toward deportation. While no official comment was made on his particular case it was stated that such action is taken only when the negligent person has committed some serious offense in England.

It was hinted that a dispute over a few unpaid New York bills would hardly be considered in this category. Walker himself appeared determined to nip in the bud any such ambitions on the part of his creditors.

"I'm going to register immediately," he said today in a further statement. He said he wanted to remain in England until next fall.

The chief registration inspector said Walker's ability to register legally now, however, depended upon whether his papers were cleared up when he re-entered this country from Spain on January 24.

Insanity Plea Seen In Ouida Keeton Trial

LAUREL, Miss., Feb. 26.—(UP)—Pretty Ouida Keeton, 33-year-old brunette, was expected to plead temporary insanity when she goes on trial here tomorrow for the murder of her widowed mother, Mrs. Daisy Keeton.

Mrs. Keeton's body has never been found, although the girl was said by police to have signed a confession that she watched W. M. Carter, Laurel lumberman, slay her mother. Authorities arrested the woman after finding a pair of severed legs said to have been Mrs. Keeton's, in a woods near Laurel.

Carter, who was steadfastly denied Miss Keeton's accusations, is held in jail at Jackson. He will be tried later.

Since her arrest in January, the woman has suffered a nervous breakdown, and is in a bad physical condition at present, her physicians said.

Return Is Assured For Chicago's Mayor

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Mayor Edward J. Kelly was assured of democratic nomination for re-election and Emil C. Wetten, lawyer, seemed to have won the republican nomination on the basis of early returns in today's primary.

There were indications that Kelly's total vote would be the highest ever accorded a mayoralty candidate in a Chicago primary, despite a light general vote caused by a near-blizzard and a mild, inauspicious campaign.

Returns from 275 out of 3,127 precincts gave:

Democratic—Kelly, 42,716; Martin Powronnik, 1,220; others scattered.

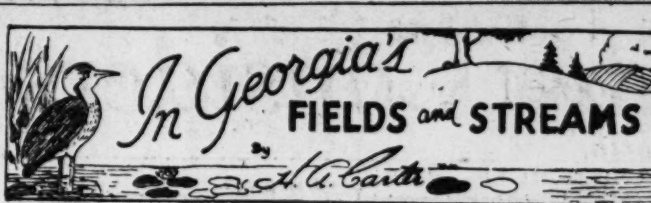

Republican—Wetten, 5,119; Mortimer B. Flynn, 1,923.

EFFORT TO CARESS BABY IN COURTROOM CREATES UPROAR

The courtroom of Judge Virgil B. Moore was thrown into a state of excitement Tuesday when Dr. Francis Cullen, appearing to answer a citation for contempt because of non-payment of alimony, attempted to caress his two-year-old daughter.

The mother, Mrs. Henrietta Cullen, snatched the child from the father's arms, screaming "You give me my baby!" She was finally quieted by court bailiffs, and received a reprimand from the court.

"You should not attempt to make your children hate their father," Judge Moore said. The court ruled that the mother was in contempt because of inability to make payments but ordered the charges held open.

A characteristic plant of the Okefenokee prairies is orontium. It is called the "never-wet" and it is a downright good name. The leaves are blade-like, from one and a half to two inches wide and four or five inches long. They extend above the water several inches and when they are submerged in a wave from a passing boat they sink gracefully, covered by a film of air that gives them the appearance of miniature mirrors. When the boat has passed the plant assumes its former position and the leaves are innocent of a single drop of water. Just what the reason for this may be I do not know. I strongly suspect that a microscopic examination of the surface of a leaf would reveal a dense fuzz that holds the air enmeshed as the plant sinks, but that is merely a guess.

Nowadays the never-wet is in bloom. It has none of the graceful beauty of Castalia, the white water-lily. It is a single spike, brownish red where it emerges from the water, a band of white above that, and tipped with gold. The botanists call it a flower and I suppose it is, but it is certainly unconventional. This plant has many local names some of which are more forcefully descriptive than poetic.

Examination of duck stomachs last year showed that seeds of yellow-eyed grass, Xyris, form a large part of the diet of water-fowl in Okefenokee. I have not seen this plant in bloom to my knowledge, but it must be a beauty. I can imagine this seed head clothed with bright yellow flowers. The mass effect must be wonderful for the plant is very abundant. One thing that I noticed about the stems was peculiar. Every now and then a stem shows up that has been folded upon itself from four to ten times. Some of these folds are loose, giving the effect of a gentle reverse curve. Others are tightly folded like joints of spaghetti. The head of the plant may be erect after such a tortuous twisting or it may be in the direction of the last curve. Okefenokee natives and guides refer to the plant as "hardhead."

Peculiar plants occur almost everywhere, but the prize for exotic appearance must be given to the trumpet. Twelve to 18 inches high, these giant insectivorous plants are common sights in the swamp. Every one that is opened contains a mass of insect remains. There is a hood over the conical portion of the plant and whether the whole thing is a modified leaf or a petal, I do not know. I do find these green and red plants most attractive, especially since frogs of the tree-toad group frequent the trumpets, presumably to capture insects before the plant does.

REVERSAL OF VERDICT FORESEEN BY REILLY

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, "will never die in the electric chair" and his conviction for the murder of the Lindbergh baby will be reversed by the New Jersey court of errors and appeals, Edward J. Reilly, chief of defense counsel predicted today in an address to the Brooklyn Lions Club.

Three Doomed To Die For Officer's Slaying

DEDHAM, Mass., Feb. 26.—(AP)—The Millen brothers and Abraham Faber today were sentenced to die in the electric chair during the week of April 28, but indications were that legal loopholes might stay the execution long beyond that date.

The Millens, Irving and Murton, and Abraham Faber were convicted last June of the slaying of a policeman in the robbery of the Needham Trust Company, February 2, 1934, of $15,000. Two policemen were killed by machinegun fire in that robbery and a fireman was badly wounded. Two other killings, one in Pittsburgh and one in Lynn, were attributed to the trio as well as numerous other robberies.

ELEVEN JAILED IN RIO IN RED PLOT PROBE

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The arrest of 11 men charged with participating in a city-wide communistic plot to dynamite cables, generators and power houses and to set afire street cars, buses and car barns was announced today by the police.

The men arrested were electricians, mechanics and inspectors employed by the Rio de Janeiro Tramway, Light & Power Company. Police said they were preparing to implant terror in the city during a four-day carnival beginning March 2.

Lindbergh baby will be reversed by the New Jersey court of errors and appeals, Edward J. Reilly, chief of defense counsel predicted today in an address to the Brooklyn Lions Club.

Medical science is such today that sheer longevity is no longer a matter of news. Hardy centenarians roam the streets of our cities without a single admirer.

With a business it is different—few live to reach their tenth birthday. Still a smaller number survive to see their silver Anniversary... but to live to celebrate your 50th YEAR is an achievement enjoyed by only the smallest minority.

However, just as is the case with a human life there are set rules and formulas to govern the life span of a business. In the first place you must be WANTED—you must FILL A NEED! That Haverty has lived up to that first "rule of health" is self evidenced by the fact that we have not only LIVED for 50 years but have GROWN and EXPANDED.

It is indeed a sense of gratification to know that Haverty has been WANTED... and wanted by an INCREASINGLY large number of people every year.

If you are not already one of the thousands of Atlantans who have found Haverty fills your needs for quality furniture, reasonably priced and on easy credit terms, come by the store the next time you are down town and see for yourself why Haverty is a member of that select group of "50-YEAR BUSINESSES."

THIS IS HAVERTY'S 50TH YEAR.

Seminary May Fete To Feature Elaborate Mother Goose Pageant

By Sally Forth

REMEMBER the time Humpty Dumpty sat on the wall, and Jack Simon met a Peman and Old Mother Hubbard went to the cupboard, and the Old Lady who lived in the shoe had so many children she didn't know what to do? A lot happened in those days and, thanks to Mother Goose, one never tires of hearing nor reading about those famous fairyland characters.

If you really want to know more about them, their life, their customs, in other words, "the low down," then you will make it your duty to be at Washington Seminary around the first of May for the elaborate May Day festivities, which will be in the form of a Mother Goose pageant. It's going to be one of the most elaborate pageants ever staged on the field at the rear of the fashionable Peachtree road institution, and that's predicting a lot, for everyone knows what beautiful affairs the seminary stages. There's going to be a lot of surprises, too, and with capable Mary Lyon, physical director of the seminary, in charge, it's success and beauty is assured.

Surely no one has more of a fairylike appearance than lovely blonde Margaret Preacher, who will be queen at the annual May Day fete, and surely no one could be better fitted for the role of maid of honor than equally lovely Rachel Burton.

The 42 girls who will form the May Day court, to Sally's way of thinking, are excellent selections. They, like the queen and maid of honor, were chosen by vote of the student body. Despite yesterday's gloomy weather, it was a gay and sunny day at the seminary as the elections were announced for the first time.

They are Bobbie Hightower, Mary Elizabeth Barge, Catherine Campbell, Isabel Boykin, Beverly Bailey, Annette Hightower, Helen Bell, Ida Akers, Julia Hoyt, Sibylla Pringle, Alice Armstrong and Gladys Cook.

Tuesday seemed to be a red-letter day at the seminary, because, in addition to the plans for May Day, Miss Emma Scott whispered the names of those elected to the senior round-table, a coveted honor to all seminary girls. They are Helen Bell, Betty Barlow, Rachel Burton, Mary Elizabeth Barge, Martha Gordy, Annette Hightower, Lucia Ewing, Margaret Preacher and Sibylla Pringle.

BEFORE another week passes wedding bells will be ringing for a charming Atlanta widow. For some time the rumor has been persistent about the romance existing between the lovely Atlanta and her suitor from a near-by city. And intimates of the couple have been saying that the nuptials will take place next week, the announcement to carry state-wide interest, due to the prominence of the principals. The romance, Sally understands, dates back to the childhood of the couple, who grew up together in the same north Georgia city. And it is a matter of sincere gratification to society in that city that the lady will return to her former home as the bride of one of its leading citizens. An interesting angle is the fact that the bridegroom-elect follows a profession made possible by aid from his future bride's father. He is a writer, an outstanding member of the same profession and his early interest in his daughter's young friend resulted in the bridegroom's present success in his chosen field.

Sally regrets exceedingly that Atlanta must relinquish the gracious presence of the bride, for she is one of Sally's favorite members of society. To the fortunate gentleman in question go congratulations of the highest order—not only Sally's, but all of society's, once the news is out.

FRIENDLY, but keen competition, marked the informal exhibit of flowering shrubs displayed by members of the Mimosa Garden Club following the meeting of the club held Monday at the home of Mrs. Stuart Witham. Each member brought with her to the meeting a lovely arrangement of blooming shrubbery culled from her own garden. So graceful and attractive were the various arrangements that even the judges were non-plussed as to which grouping deserved first credit. After carefully studying the color combination and artistic beauty of each exhibit, it was decided to award the first place to Mrs. Price Gilbert for her exquisite arrangement of pink and white flowering quince. This prominent and beloved Atlanta matron derives much pleasure from her garden, in which she spends much time planning and cultivating lovely flowers. Naturally she was pleased over the honor of having her arrangement named as the most artistic.

Another feature arousing the interest of members of the Mimosa Garden Club, of which Mrs. Blewett Lee is president, was the "names of flowers" contest. As the five and six-syllable names of various flowers were called the members were given opportunity to describe each flower and tell the everyday common name by which the flower is known. It was amazing to find that, with very few exceptions, these feminine gardeners were familiar with each flower, regardless of the length of its technical name.

Miss Kenan Feted At Open House.

Miss Anne Hill Kenan, lovely member of the younger social contingent, was the central figure Tuesday afternoon at the delightful open house at which her mother, Mrs. Thomas S. Kenan Jr., entertained at her home on Fifteenth street.

The occasion marked the birthday anniversary of the charming young honoree, and followed the regular Tuesday afternoon class at Margaret Brynne's studio, of which the honor guest is a member.

Throughout the home a profusion of bright-colored flowers were used in artistic arrangement for the decorations. The table in the dining room was covered with a real lace cloth and was graced in the center by a silver bowl filled with pink roses.

Mrs. Kenan assisted in entertaining the guests by her daughter, Miss Sara Kenan, and Misses Eugenia Snow and Margaret Walker. Invited for the affair were 60 members of the younger set.

Bible Class.

Deaconess Trust and Bible Class, under the leadership of Mrs. George A. Blund, meets Thursday morning, February 28, at 11 o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. B. McDonough, 209 Michigan avenue, Decatur. An invitation is extended to those interested.

Miss Lucy Entertains.

Mrs. Thomas E. Lucy Jr. entertained at a luncheon at her miscellaneous shower Saturday honoring Miss Mary Wyley, whose marriage to Dr. Martin Wyley, will be an interesting event of February 27.

Invited for the affair were 60 members of the younger set.

Visitors Arrive To Attend King-Hay Marriage Saturday

Visitors are arriving daily for the wedding of Miss Charlotte King and Errol Baldwin Hay Jr., which will be an important event of Saturday afternoon, taking place at 4 o'clock at St. Luke's Episcopal church. The bridegroom-elect's mother, Mrs. Errol Hay, and his sister, Miss Margaret Hay, of Philadelphia, are already encoined at the Baltimore, having arrived from Clearwater, Fla., where they were popular members of the winter colony.

An aunt of Mr. Hay, Mrs. Edgar Adamson, of Pasadena, Cal., has also arrived and is a guest at the Baltimore. She will be joined there today by another aunt, Mrs. Wyle Wilson, of Philadelphia, and the bridegroom-elect's sister, Mrs. Samuel S. Cooley, of New York.

The bride-elect's cousins, Misses Laura and Hart Wyley Smith have come from Athens to take part in the wedding and are guests at the King home, on Brighton road, in Brookwood Hills. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Smith Jr., will arrive on Friday.

These guests from a distance will be included in the guest lists of the series of parties given each day before the wedding. Miss Jean Lucas certifies at luncheon today at her home on West Peachtree street, and tomorrow Miss Margaret Hay will be hostess at luncheon at the Baltimore. Tomorrow afternoon Mrs. Charles Tway will entertain at tea at her fifteenth street residence.

This evening Mr. and Mrs. King will be hosts at an informal buffet supper at their home, which will include only members of the two families and the guests from out of town. On Friday evening Mrs. G. Arthur Hays will entertain at a buffet supper, the Piedmont Driving Club, following the wedding rehearsal. Immediately following the marriage, Mr. and Mrs. King will entertain informally at the Driving Club, assembling only the guests from a distance and members of the bride's and bridegroom's families.

Miss King and Mrs. Francis Marion Bird shared honors at a buffet luncheon given Tuesday by Mrs. Marion Courts at her home on Peachtree Road, where, in the afternoon, the King and Miss Frances Weinman were central figures at the tea given by Miss Constance Adams. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. William Rawson, Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis, and Mrs. Tyne Jones, of Canton.

Mrs. and Mrs. William Percy will motor to New Orleans to attend Mardi Gras and will visit their sister, Mrs. Harry Gidder.

Mrs. Richard Hines, of New York, is the guest of Mrs. Richard Johnston.

Mrs. and Mrs. Everard Richardson are motoring through Florida.

Mrs. and Mrs. Noel Park have returned from Greenville, S. C., where they were the guests of their son and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Parker.

Mrs. Harry Harmon left Sunday for New York, where she will visit her daughter, Mrs. William Rawson, and Mrs. Lyon Doughty.

Mrs. Maurice Siegler and little daughter leave today for Baltimore, Md., for several weeks' visit to relatives.

Mrs. Carroll F. Walker and her daughter, Miss Carol Walker, of Washington, D. C., are the guests of Mrs. Walker's brother and sister, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Rhodes, on Brighton road.

Miss Hattie Head has returned from New Orleans, La., where she spent some time.

Mrs. William Healey is at the Cloister at Sea Island.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Hunnicutt, Misses Helen Lowndes, Claire Hunnicutt, Ruth Hunnicutt and Mary Cobb Hunnicutt have returned from Florida, where they spent several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Pettengill, of Cincinnati, Ohio; P. W. Fitzpatrick, of Hollywood, Cal.; Lawrence Mirken, of New York, are at the Hotel Georgian Terrace.

Miss Isobel Meyers, of Cleveland, Ohio, arrived a few days ago to be the guest of Miss Marjorie Wyley, who is the bridegroom's cousin.

Mrs. Ralph Boyte, national president of the American Auxiliary Hotel Greeters of America, arrives today to spend two days with the local Greeter Chapter, of which Mrs. Bonnie Orr Denton is president.

Miss Eleanor Smith, of Cordele, Ga., is the guest of Miss Marjorie Wyley, whose marriage to Dr. Martin Meyers takes place this evening.

Mrs. I. Behrend, of Washington, D. C., is visiting her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Dittler, on Briarcliff road.

French Comedy To Be Presented Here This Evening

Advance sales indicate that an imposing audience conversant with European culture will greet the talented young Atlanta artists appearing Wednesday evening in "Divorcens," at the Woman's Club. This fine comedy, translated from the French by Victor Sardon and Emile de Najac, is a favorite with the Comedie Francaise. In New York it proved a vehicle for one of the greatest successes in the stage career of Grace George (Mrs. William A. Brady). Few plays have caught and depicted more accurately the flavor of the continental theater. The cast for the evening's performance includes in the order of their appearance, Edna Ruffey, Leonard Coker, Sterling Lanier, Edgar Neely Jr., Elizabeth Pinkston, Walter Paschall, Paul Carpenter Jr., Betty Craven, Mary Jones, Ruth Draper and Udo Thran.

Gwynne Barrows, Jerry De Molar, and the play with the actioned artists have been assisted in furnishing the stage by Samuel L. DuBois. Misses Martha La Mar and Helen Farmer, with Mrs. A. M. Abole and Mrs. J. B. Ashby, will act as usherettes, assisted by Oglethorpe University students. The performance will begin at 8 o'clock.

Tickets are on sale in the office of the Atlanta Woman's Club. Reservations made by telephone must be claimed by 7:30 Wednesday evening. Reserved seats are priced at 50 cents plus 5-cent tax. Good balcony seats are available at 35 cents.

P. E. O. Sisterhood Is Organized Here

Mrs. Chellie Stevens Wright, supreme organizer of the P. E. O. Sisterhood, is a student loan officer at the University of Georgia. Her mission here was the organization of Chapter A, P. E. O., the first to be formed in Georgia. The meetings will be held at the Biltmore hotel Saturday afternoon and evening. A banquet was served to members at 7 o'clock.

P. E. O. is a sisterhood of 50,000 women with chapters in almost every state and in Canada and the Hawaiian Islands. The organization was founded at Iowa Wesleyan, at Mount Pleasant, Iowa, in 1869, by seven girls who had the vision of what sororities could mean to women.

The outstanding work of the organization is a student loan fund which is used to help worthy girls through college. Cotley College, at Nevada, Maine, is owned and operated by P. E. O. The memorial library at Mount Pleasant is another interest of the sisterhood.

The organization of Chapter A, Georgia, is unique in that the membership is composed of women from nine states who were active in P. E. O. before moving to Atlanta. The officers are Mrs. Ray M. Spangler, president; Mrs. R. H. Peters, vice president; Miss Mary Elizabeth Sturtevant, recording secretary; Mrs. R. A. Albion, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. J. Gillies, treasurer; Mrs. C. W. Smith, chaplain; Miss Ada M. Barker, guard. Other members are Mesdames C. E. Ewing, J. W. Harlan, Guy Moore, Esther Jackson and A. J. Gardner.

Mrs. Wright was honor guest at a number of social affairs during her visit to Atlanta. She left Monday for Auburn, Ala., to visit the P. E. O. chapter there.

Miss Robert Honors Miss Weinman.

Miss Louise Robert entertained on Tuesday at her home on Fifteenth street at a luncheon and kitchen party. The hostess was Miss Frances Weinman, bride-elect of early March. The lace-covered table was centered with silver bowls filled with flowers in white and pale pastel tints. Silver candleholders held tall white tapers caught with green tulle bows. The bride-elect was presented with a number of gifts for her kitchen and pantry of her new home.

The guest included Mrs. Andrew Weinman Jr., Misses Mary Ann Carr, Frances Latimer, Octavia Riley, Flossie Hill, Mary Irby, Maud Thompson, Louise Smith, Laura Troutman, Josephine Clayton, Louise McIntyre, Sarah McCray and Betty McDuffie.

Miss Robert was assisted by her mother, Mrs. L. W. Reeves, and her grandmother, Mrs. C. D. Pearson.

Mrs. Toll Honored At Party Series.

Among the interesting informal affairs marking the social calendar for Tuesday evening was the dinner given by Brigadier General James H. Reeves, U. S. A., retired, and Mrs. Reeves at their home in East Lake complimenting Mrs. Irene Hinchman Toll, of Detroit, Mich. Mrs. Toll is visiting her mother, Mrs. General Reeves, and her brother, Mr. General Reeves, at the Biltmore apartments, and is being honored at a series of informal affairs.

Crimson begonias centered the dinner table, where covers were placed for Mrs. Toll, Colonel Gage and Mrs. Gage, Mrs. Joseph Richardson, mother of the hostess, General Reeves, and Mrs. Reeves and members of the immediate family.

Mrs. Toll was central figure at a luncheon given on Tuesday by Mrs. R. B. Pegram. A crystal bowl holding an effective arrangement of jonquils centered the table and covers were placed for Mesdames Toll, Gage, Lorenzo D. Gage, and Frank C. Burnett, and the hostess.

Mrs. Adams Honored.

Billie Adams was honored recently by Miss Dorothy and Thelma Andrews at a shower at their home, 1468 Lucile avenue, in West End, celebrating her first wedding anniversary. Mrs. Adams was formerly Miss Billie Horton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Horton, of West End.

During the afternoon contests were enjoyed. Mrs. Sophia Dyke and Mrs. Lucile Green won prizes.

Guests included Mesdames Cornelia Carlisle, Dorothy Cathcart, Pam Carter, Katherine Adams, Margaret Adams, Dorothy Adams, Thelma Andrews, Elizabeth Scott, Elizabeth Haines, Mary Alice Wols, Mesdames Lucile Green, Sophia Dyke, Elizabeth Scott, Billie Adams, Grady Andrews and J. W. Horton.

Overcame Her Nervousness

"A few years ago," writes Mrs. Charles Sivill, of Hartshorn, Okla., "I was weak and run-down. It seemed that nervousness was about to get the best of me. My mother told me about Cardui and that is what I decided to take. After I began taking Cardui, my appetite was better. I gained strength and was less nervous. By the time I had taken two bottles, I felt fine."

First, better appetite, and then more strength and a feeling of well-being. Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Miss Echols Honored.

Mrs. R. L. Laseter was hostess on Saturday at a miscellaneous shower given at her home in Inman Park in honor of Miss Elaine Echols, a bride-elect of March.

Games and contests were played and the guests winning prizes were Mesdames J. E. Sewell, Lella Parker, B. L. Crim and S. R. Smith.

Covers were laid for Mesdames Elaine Echols, Edna Spradling, Elise Longino, Louise Houghton, Margaret Laseter, Mesdames J. C. Pitts, W. E. Johnson, Allan Hemphill, A. L. Crim, S. R. Smith, Foster Wyley, Coleman Gohar, J. P. Henderson, E. L. Crim, J. E. Sewell, Lella Parker, W. J. Parker, S. B. Gaston, B. L. Echols, W. L. Moore, Fred Bond, Johnny Morrison, R. L. Laseter, Sidney Badaux and Mrs. Cliff Rhoad.

Sigma Delta Club To Entertain At Brilliant Dance on March 1

Sigma Delta Club entertains at a brilliant formal dance on Friday evening, March 1, at the Druid Hills Golf Club. The chapters will include Mrs. Inman Gray, Mrs. Hilliard Spaulding, Mrs. Berry Mobley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collier, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Butters, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Wight, Mr. and Mrs. John Satterwhite McCord.

Following the dance the members of the sorority and their dates will be entertained at a breakfast to be given at the home of Mrs. Berry Mobley.

The officers of the club include Miss Anne Gray, president; Miss Vam Spaulding, vice president; Miss Henrietta Collier, secretary, and Miss Marion Mobley, treasurer.

Of interest to cultural circles throughout the city will be the presentation of the play "Craig's Wife," by the Blackfriars' dramatic organization of Agnes Scott College. The play will be given on Friday evening and again on Saturday evening in the school gymnasium.

The leading role, that of Craig's wife, will be taken by Miss Betty Lou Houck. Other members of the cast include Misses Marguerite Morris, Hester Ann Withers and Augustus King.

An interesting feature of the production is the gorgeous costumes worn by the cast, which will be furnished through the courtesy of the George Musse Clothing Company.

The occasion will assemble a large and appreciative audience of the Agnes Scott student body and interested members of Atlanta society.

Dr. and Mrs. Rhodes To Honor Miss Klein

Among the interesting parties planned for Miss Sydney Klein, who will become the bride of Louis Lloyd Davis on March 21, is that at which Dr. and Mrs. A. Rhodes will be hosts on Thursday evening, February 28, at their home on Brighton road, in Brookwood Hills. The guests will assemble for supper, after which dancing will be enjoyed.

Assisting the hosts in receiving their guests will be their lovely young daughter, Ellen Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Klein, parents of the bride-elect; Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. North, Mrs. Carroll F. Walker, and her daughter, Miss Carol Walker, of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Walker and Miss Walker are guests at the Rhodes home, the former being a sister of Mrs. Rhodes.

Invited to meet Miss Klein and her fiancé are the members of their wedding personnel.

Coat-of-Arms Exhibit At Rhodes Hall.

The officers of the James Edward Oglethorpe Chapter, D. A. C., with Mrs. Charles M. Love as chairman and Miss Byrd Blankinship, assistant, will sponsor a showing of coats of arms on Sunday afternoon at Rhodes Memorial Hall, when Miss Ruth Blair, state historian, opens the building to the general public. All residents of the state are invited to contribute to the display by sending in their family emblems. Receipts will be given at the hall for each coat of arms sent in. It is requested that all

INSTALLMENT XXV.

"Well," and smiled, "a handsome boy kissed me and I was ashamed afterward, although my part of the kiss was for Tony."

"I can see I am still not going to get anywhere with you."

"Let's sit over by the window," Sherry said. "We can get a breath of air there."

He sat near her and lit a cigarette.

"What's on your mind?" she asked. "I hope nothing foolish, because I left a lovely country estate."

"Would you be angry if you were sent for because I was lonely?"

"Not you!"

"I am afraid I shall never be enough in love for any woman to matter much to me. I've missed you because you're the only one of the lot who doesn't fall on my neck. Let me see—there was a little blonde with a house on Long Island, a slinky brunette who says she's a Russian princess, and a swell little tap-dancer. There were others."

Sherry laughed. "Then why did you send for me?"

He leaned forward. "Listen. Something hot. The opportunity of a lifetime. For years, said Eric, 'I have wanted a crack at Hollywood. Now wait... let me finish. I had a chance to go two years ago but wanted to wait until I was on the top shelf. Well, I can go now and you... you're going with me, Sherry. You... in pictures."

"Wait. Let me get this straight. Where do I come in?"

"It's all set!" he cried. "There's a contract waiting for you. They're going to make another one of those musical pictures, only this one is going to be bigger and better. Sherry, you'll be marvelous on the screen! People have listened to you, but wait! they see you!"

"But... but what about my radio broadcasts?"

"Broadcast from a California studio. You can arrange that."

"Yes, I suppose they could be arranged. Eric, I don't know whether I want to go or not."

"You've got to ride the crest of the wave before it breaks. This is the opportunity of a lifetime. Sherry, you can't let it pass. It means big money and fame. With your face and figure..."

Sherry fingered the folds of her dress thoughtfully.

"It's a very attractive proposition, but it... it confuses me, Eric. I'd probably get scared to death before a camera. I'd hate to be a failure."

"You're always talking about your family," he argued. "You could do something big for them, then! I've talked you up, but you didn't need it. You've made a name for yourself."

Sherry lifted her head. "Let me be honest with you, Eric. I don't like to be indebted to men. When they're angry, they remind you of it. I am indebted to Carl... but that's different."

ferent, of course... and now... know what the verdict is going to be."

Sherry smiled sadly. "Justice in this case wins."

"You—you're not going."

"I'm going to Tony."

"Oh!"

"You see? I can't do anything else. I love him."

Eric shook his sleek dark head. "You've got courage and optimism. I guess... this lets me out with you."

"I've been more fortunate than most women," said Sherry. Her lovely eyes misty, "having men like you and Carl to love with me. This is nothing a woman hates more than tell telling a fine man she can't love him. It hurts, because all men are like little boys and women find it hard to refuse them. Carl found his happiness without me. You will, too, Eric."

"But not in domestic bliss. Sherry, you gave Tony something he never had. You've given me something, too. Faith in women. I could never trust a woman as far as I could see her. My mother left my father, ran away with a dancer, because being married to a poor musician was no fun. My father taught me to hate women. That's why he never became a great musician... because love and music go together. When my mother left him, the tenderness went out of his music. Sherry, you've been so square."

Frances announced dinner.

"That means Janey and Paul will go to California, too, doesn't it?" Sherry said.

"Then I'll be absolutely alone..." Sherry lifted her head and smiled. "I shall go to see your picture and be as thrilled as the girl who sits next to me. And you will probably fall in love with half a dozen famous actresses."

"But not marry any of them."

"When do you leave?"

"Saturday."

"I'll have to see Janey and Paul."

"And if you don't find him, Sherry, what then?"

"I'll come to Hollywood. Eric, don't hope that I won't find him. Hope that I do, if you want me to be happy."

He laughed. "When I'm old and rich and tired, I'll think of the one perfect love affair I know, yours and Tony's, the only one I ever knew. I wish you luck even though his gain will be my loss. I'll always think of you as being the most beautiful and the most desirable woman I ever knew. Most women are such utter fools."

The next day Sherry called on Janey and found her in the midst of feverish packing.

"Gosh, I'm glad to see you! What an elegant sunburn! The only burns I get are on my fingers. Isn't it wonderful, Sherry, about going to California? We're going to get a little bungalow and I'll have a maid."

"Just when I was going to offer you and Paul my apartment while I'm away."

"Oh! Going home again?"

"I'm going on a tour of moving picture theaters, starting in October, ending at Christmas. Three months! The rent is paid on my apartment until the first of the year and I was going to ask you and Paul to live there."

"No more shushy New York winters for me! Gosh, Sherry, even though you make plenty of money, I feel kinda sorry for you. Since I've been married, I know that all things come in twos. And from now until October you'll be in New York alone. If you want me to, I'll join Paul later."

What do I want, she asked herself, and a name formed on her lips. "Tony. I want Tony. I want marriage and security, a house of my own to fuss over, children to love and care for and watch over. I never wanted fame in the first place. I want Tony; I must find him. If he won't come back, I must go to him."

But she didn't find him. "Then I'll go to Hollywood, but Hollywood will be the second choice. Luxury and fame were second choice to Tony."

She was still sitting on the window seat when Eric came in, his immaculate white linen suit spotted with rain. Frances in the dining room was fixing the table.

"I came as an accused man awaiting a verdict. But I'm guilty, and

Nearly all fish take time out for an occasional "nooze." They can frequently be seen at night on the bottom of the fish bowl, and sometimes they are found sleeping on their sides. Since fish have no eyelids, they always sleep with their eyes open.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

TRANSPORT IN CHINA.

It may seem strange to us that graveyards could block the progress of a country; but that has been true, to some extent at least, in China.

The Chinese, through the ages, have given worship to their ancestors. And the custom still exists. From early days of the railroad, they were against any change in place of the remains of the dead. If a railroad was to be built, they did not want it to run through a graveyard.

We, in this land, do not have the same problem; but in thickly settled parts of China, much space is given to cemeteries which date back hundreds, even thousands, of years.

That is given as one reason why the Chinese have been slow about building railroad lines. In the entire country there are hardly 14,000 miles of railroad. This compares with about a quarter of a million miles in the United States.

Lack of money for public works, and content with old ways of life, are other reasons for slow progress of railroads in China.

"A coolie," we are told, "will carry 135 pounds 15 miles for 30 cents Chinese silver." This may sound cheap, but it costs more to send a load a hundred miles on the back of a human being than in a railway car. Sometimes a Chinese farmer carries more than 300 pounds. The Chinese are "good workers" and they work too hard and too long.

The wheelbarrow is widely used in China to transport passengers as well as goods. The narrow highways of the country are better suited to wheelbarrows than to cars.

Another important method of transport is by water. Rivers and canals are mighty highways used by thousands of Chinese barges, junks and other boats. The Chinese canal system of China is more widespread than that of any other country of the earth. The total length is estimated at more than 200,000 miles. Some canals are not in good working order, but the system takes care of a huge volume of traffic.

About 40,000 automobiles are in use in China, far less than the number in a single large city in the western world, such as Toronto or Buffalo.

In aviation, however, forward steps have been made. There is regular mail service over several lines. The use of planes may grow swiftly among the Chinese—there is no need to worry about graveyards in speeding through the air!

TARZAN AND THE FIRE GODS No. 3

In the majestic train of Alexander the Great, the pagan priest Niarchus crossed the Hellespont into Asia. With glowing, blood-lust eyes he beheld the capture of Sardin, Ephesus and Halicarnassus. He witnessed the siege and destruction of the ancient cities of Tyre and Gaza.

He saw the Persian Darius hurl his scythe-bristling war chariots against the solid Macedonian phalanxes, and he saw the Persian army turned in retreat toward Arbela. With each crushing victory the youthful Alexander gained new lustre in the eyes of Niarchus.

But while the priest was an eager witness at every trial of arms, he did not neglect his studies of the strange religions of the enemy cities. He was to be found often in the temples, poring over ancient chronicles and investigating the secret writings of the priests.

At last Niarchus became a convert to the cult of Baal, that dark god who was worshipped by the Canaanites and other tribes against which the ancient Israelites had battled under the banner of Jehovah. And the conversion of Niarchus was the cause of his final undoing!

DR. STOCKTON AXSON SUCCEUMS IN TEXAS

Brother-in-Law of Woodrow Wilson Dies as Result of Stroke.

HOUSTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Dr. Stockton Axson, 67, brother-in-law of the late President Woodrow Wilson and probably one of the closest intimates of the wartime chief executive, died here today.

Funeral arrangements were held up pending word from a sister, Mrs. Edward Elliott, of Beverly Hills, Cal., and two nieces, Mrs. Ellen W. McAdoo and Miss Margaret Wilson, of New York.

Dr. Axson, professor of English at Rice Institute, since he was relieved of Red Cross work soon after the World War, died in a hospital from a stroke he suffered at his home yesterday.

The noted educator came to Rice Institute as a Shakespearean authority in 1914 and remained until 1917. Then he took the stump for Liberty bonds.

Later that year the Red Cross drafted him as secretary general. The work, which he performed without pay, occupied his time until 1920, when he returned to Rice.

Dr. Axson was born in Rome, Ga., the son of a Presbyterian pastor. While young he became associated with Woodrow Wilson, who had married Dr. Axson's sister. He attended Davidson College in North Carolina, Wesleyan in Connecticut and Johns Hopkins.

In 1890 he followed Woodrow Wilson to Princeton, remaining there 15 years and holding the title of professor of English most of the time.

Baron von Rechenberg.
BERLIN, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Baron Albrecht von Rechenberg, 73, former governor of German East Africa, died today of influenza he received Saturday.

He was a member of the Prussian House of Representatives and the Reichstag.

'Family Tree' Traced To Adam, Woman Claims

VAN BUREN, Ark., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Miss Effie Malone, of Van Buren, today said a similar announcement by an Ohioan was responsible for a claim that her genealogy traced back to Adam and Eve.

Miss Malone, a local clubwoman, said she had several years ago tracing her ancestry back 140 generations to Adam and Eve, but modestly refrained from making an announcement until she read of a similar claim made by Mrs. Christian Sells Jaeger, of Columbus, Ohio.

GEORGIA BAPTIST SETS MAY 5 "HOSPITAL DAY"

Setting the goal at $10,000 and requesting Dr. Louis D. Newton to accept the chairmanship, a meeting of prominent Baptist ministers and laymen voted unanimously Tuesday night to hold the annual Georgia Baptist hospital day on Sunday, May 5.

The offering last year amounted to $6,750. The meeting was called to order by Dr. W. H. Major, chairman of the hospital commission, and the purpose of the meeting was stated by W. D. Barker, superintendent of the hospital.

Every dollar raised in this special hospital day offering will be used for the charity work of the hospital. The offering last year amounted to $6,750. The meeting was called to order by Dr. W. H. Major, chairman of the hospital commission, and the purpose of the meeting was stated by W. D. Barker, superintendent of the hospital.

Addresses were delivered Tuesday night by Milton Fleetwood, Carversville, president of the Georgia Press Association; the Rev. H. H. Starnbridge, Cedarhurst; the Rev. J. E. Marchman, Hampton; the Rev. King Evans, Dublin; the Rev. J. T. Edwards, Taylorville; the Rev. C. O. English, Thomaston; the Rev. D. D. Dodo, Thomaston; the Rev. B. Bunyan Stephens, Rome; the Rev. D. T. Dalton, Dalton; the Rev. A. D. Howard, Palmetto; the Rev. Eldon Dittmon, Bowden; and the Rev. Harry W. Smith, Barnesville.

Dr. Newton will announce the personnel of the various committees in the near future, together with other details of the campaign.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Paraguay's armies, their offensive at Villa Montes "liquidated with tragic results," have begun withdrawing to their former positions, the war minister announced tonight.

The offensive was described as "the most vigorous of this year for the number of troops and quantities of war supplies concentrated" at Villa Montes.

"The Bolivian army has now taken the initiative," the ministry said, "and the situation has become difficult for the enemy. In actions at Nancorani, La Tronca, Fortuna, Chigua, Iquique and elsewhere we have punished him badly."

Earlier the ministry charged Paraguay was authorizing the use of poison gas in the Chaco, beginning March 20, and asserted supplies of gas already had been purchased in Germany.

Cross Sections of Life In Gate City of South

Data on living costs in Atlanta are being compiled by the Chamber of Commerce at the request of the national industrial conference board of New York, which plans to issue a pamphlet on living costs in major cities of the country, according to Frank K. Shaw, secretary of the industrial bureau of the chamber.

Thieves broke into the garage of the Atlantic Ice & Coal Company, at Locust street and the Georgia railroad tracks Monday night and early Tuesday morning and took a ton and a half truck, M. J. Morrison, manager, reported to police.

Two typewriters and a quantity of books were reported stolen Tuesday by burglars who entered the Commercial High school building.

Police were watching the hospitals Tuesday for a negro said to have been wounded early Tuesday morning when Ralph Burnside, of 521 Atlanta avenue, S. E., fired six shots at a negro burglar who attempted to enter his home. Burnside told police he was positive he wounded the intruder.

Mrs. A. N. Madison reported to police Tuesday that her pocketbook containing jewelry valued at more than $80 and other valuables was stolen from the drawer of her desk in a downtown office building.

Burglars who entered the law office of J. R. Venable, at 75 1-2 Hunter street, S. E., early Tuesday morning ransacked the office and scattered records over the office, but took nothing of value, Venable reported to police.

Though he spelled relief, "relief," Eddie Moore, negro, was able to get cash on 27 small checks on which he had no money, but had been given by the Fulton County Relief Association and for which he was bound over to the higher courts Tuesday night. He was released by Recorder A. W. Callaway. Merchants cashed the checks despite the erratic spelling.

Georgia Baptist Training Union was led in attendance by the First Baptist church of East Point with a total of 544 present last Sunday, Edwin S. Preston, state secretary, announced Tuesday. The First Baptist church of Albany was second with 278.

Plans for the exhibition to be given by the Artist Guild of Atlanta will be discussed at the meeting of the organization at 8 o'clock tonight in room 210 of the Peachtree Arcade, members of the Guild announced Tuesday.

Governor Talmadge will be the principal speaker at 7:30 o'clock tonight at a meeting sponsored by the Boosters' Club of the Junior Order of the United American Mechanics and Gate City Council No. 5. The meeting will be held at the Junior Order hall, 236 Capitol avenue, and Edwin F. Johnson, Fulton county commissioner, will introduce the state's chief executive. The public is invited.

Proposed sales tax now before the general assembly will be discussed by the American committee of Atlanta representatives, at the meeting of the Atlanta chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants at 8 o'clock tonight at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Seven Georgia reserve officers were ordered Tuesday to report for duty with the CCC beginning March 1 by Major General George Van Horn Moseley. They are First Lieut.

A. J. Konzer, of 872 Briarcliff road, reported to police Tuesday that thieves had broken into his automobile which was parked in front of his home at 12:30 o'clock Tuesday and stolen clothing valued at $175 and an auto radio.

Martin Watts, 51, was treated at Grady hospital Tuesday for burns on the right leg, received, he told hospital attendants, when he fell into the fireplace at his home, 106 Harris street, N. W.

Mrs. Hill B. Moore, 31, of 487 Washington street, was shot for a foot and bruised, received when she was knocked down at Washington street and Georgia avenue early Tuesday night by an automobile driven by W. B. Gibson of Newnan, according to police reports. Gibson was arrested on a charge of reckless driving.

Betty Harrison Jones Chapter No. 1, Disabled Veterans of the World War, will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Ansley hotel, 1 L. L. Hargrave, commander, announced Tuesday. Otis Puckett, commander of the Georgia department, and many other officials are invited to attend the meeting. Pending legislation will be discussed.

Meeting of the committee arranging for the luncheon and reception for Mrs. Jessie W. Nicholson, nationally known woman leader, which will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Rich's tea room. Members of the D. A. R., U. D. C. and P. E. A. are requested to attend the meeting. Mrs. G. B. Lindsey announced.

Representative Smith, of Madison county, listed Tuesday morning's Constitution as having voted both for and against repeal, through a typographical error. Tuesday stated he voted against the measure.

NEGRO DRIVER BEATEN,
ROBBED BY BANDITS

Revived after he had been picked up unconscious early Tuesday night in Piedmont park by two men, a negro, Julius B. Little, told police that two white bandits held him up, beat and drugged him and threw him out of his delivery truck after they had robbed him of $12.68 in cash and a watch he valued at $25.

The bandits held him up at the point of a pistol at Jackson and Pasadena streets, got in the truck and beat him up, forced a drug down his throat and then robbed him, Little said. He said he was employed as a deliveryman by a dry cleaning company, owners of the truck which he said the bandits took.

LIBERTY LEAGUE PLANS TO WORK IN COLLEGES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The American Liberty League tonight announced the extension of its activities to include the undergraduates of the nation's colleges.

A college division has been established at its headquarters, it said, and "formal recognition" has been granted to "affiliated undergraduate groups" at Northwestern University, Nebraska University, Wisconsin and Princeton.

Requests for such recognition have been received, as well, it said, from the Universities of Maryland, Delaware, Chicago, Virginia and Pennsylvania and from Western Reserve, Sioux Falls College, Occidental, Bethany, Union, Bowdoin, Westminster, Springfield and the College of the Ozarks.

Some state department officials were intimating strongly to favor Panama's claims. Officials of other executive agencies were described as seeing a way of meeting them without establishing a confusing legal precedent, rather than of finally rejecting them.

Pressed for reasons for not meeting the demand treaty obligations today, Acting Secretary Phillips declined to give any further explanation of the action. The Panamanian government yesterday delivered written representations renewing its request.

The question of pay for employees' representatives will be determined by the automobile labor board after the final election has been held by that board.

"Rules for seniority have been laid down by the automobile labor board."

Devalued Currency Payment By U. S. Rejected by Panama

Canal Zone Rental Check Returned; Demand Made for Meeting of Obliga- tion in Gold.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The United States today again met its $250,000,000 gold coin obligation to Panama in devalued currency, an action immediately interpreted in some Panamanian official quarters as a repudiation of 1904 treaty obligations.

Panama, through its New York fiscal agent, promptly returned the $250,000,000 Panama Canal Zone rental to the treasury—as was done in 1934—and demanded gold instead. From the Panamanian standpoint the payment was viewed as default, inasmuch as the government is denied use of the money due today.

State department, however, pointed out today's payment was in accordance with treaty obligations. Panama's demand for gold was rejected. Panama's demand for gold was rejected. Panama's demand for gold was rejected.

Some state department officials were intimating strongly to favor Panama's claims. Officials of other executive agencies were described as seeing a way of meeting them without establishing a confusing legal precedent, rather than of finally rejecting them.

Pressed for reasons for not meeting the demand treaty obligations today, Acting Secretary Phillips declined to give any further explanation of the action. The Panamanian government yesterday delivered written representations renewing its request.

The question of pay for employees' representatives will be determined by the automobile labor board after the final election has been held by that board.

"Rules for seniority have been laid down by the automobile labor board."

"In its statement the company threatened to curtail its Cleveland activities unless continued agitation among an otherwise satisfied group is ended."

Theories at Variance.

A contradictory theory arises out of today's action. Panama insists one nation cannot unilaterally alter terms of a bilateral agreement, such as the canal treaty, a view that state department officials have frequently enunciated. Disregarding this view today, however, the United States explained it was bound by the treaty of 1904, which does not permit gold coin payment.

Diplomatic circles here tonight pointed out a state department decision to amend April 29, last, in which Ambassador Grew was instructed to remind Japan, with reference to Chinese matters, that:

"Treaties can lawfully be modified or terminated only by process prescribed or recognized or agreed upon by the parties to them."

In devalued currency the Panama obligations amounted to about $423,000 and in addition Panama asks for interest on the 1934 annuity and considers that interest on the 1935 obligation starts from today.

Charles Edward Thomas, editor of the Sigma Nu Fraternity Delta, of Indianapolis, Ind., stated of the Atlanta chapter of the Sigma Nu chapters at Emory University, Georgia Tech and the University of Georgia, and as secretary of the board of regents of the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., he will attend the meetings of that board in Atlanta this week.

Former ATLANTAN
TO HEAD STETSON
JOURNALISM UNIT

DELAND, Fla., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Establishment of a school of journalism at Stetson University and appointment of Plutus Iberius Lipsey Jr. for many years on the Associated Press domestic and foreign staff, as director was announced today by President W. S. Allen, of the university.

From 1929 to 1933 Lipsey was chief of the Associated Press bureau at Geneva, Switzerland, and for two years prior to that was on the staff of the London bureau. Before going abroad, Lipsey served in the Associated Press in Memphis, Tenn., Atlanta, Richmond, Va., and Columbia, S. C.

He was on the news staff of the Atlanta Journal-Constitution and was city editor of the Jackson (Miss.) Clarion-Ledger before going with the Associated Press. He also has been assistant professor of journalism at the University of Tennessee, Clark College, Amarillo, Texas, Military Academy, and the Gulf Coast Military Academy.

Dr. Allen and Lipsey and his family will arrive here March 29 and the new journalism course will become a part of the university's curriculum next fall. Lipsey also will supervise publicity for Stetson.

YIDDISH ACTRESS
TO APPEAR SUNDAY
IN 3-ACT COMEDY

Celia Adler, world-famous Yiddish actress, and a company of players, brought to Atlanta under the auspices of the Yiddish theater, will appear at the Yiddish theater Sunday evening in "Almost a Tragedy," an all-Yiddish three-act comedy, written especially for Miss Adler, by David Pinner, noted playwright.

Coming from a family of distinguished actors, Celia Adler is the daughter of the late Jacob P. Adler, considered the peer of the Yiddish stage. The Adlers have often been called the "Yiddish Shakespeare."

Miss Adler's mother was an actress of note; her sister Stella is now appearing in England in group theater plays, and her younger brother, an actor, is in "Street Scene."

"Almost a Tragedy" deals with the Jewish working classes and the Chalmers in Palestine. Miss Adler has the part of an idealistic Jewish woman, dominated by an ideal that all but consumes her, through a series of amusing incidents and misunderstandings.

Commandments Broken
By Gold Yulke-Mencken

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The gold decision of the supreme court, H. L. Mencken declared tonight, "not only knocked the constitution into a cocked hat; it also repealed the eighth and tenth commandments" (against theft and covetousness).

"Go and read the majority decision for yourself, and especially the decision in the Liberty bond case. There you will find the unequivocal admission, made by the supreme court in the land, that the government of the United States has repudiated a contract and asked its own citizens."

"No other word fits the transaction. It has been made unlawful for the holders of the bonds to collect what is admittedly due them, and was solemnly promised to them. In one breath, they are told that it is theirs, and in the next they are invited cynically to collect if they can."

HARRY M. JONES, 55, DIES AT HOME HERE

Well-Known Atlanta Businessman Had Lived Here for 30 Years.

Harry M. Jones, well-known Atlanta businessman, died Tuesday night at the residence of his sister-in-law, Mrs. William H. Hester, at 1275 Oxford road, after an illness of four days. He was 55 and resided at 608 Barnett street, N. E.

A native of Pennsylvania, Mr. Jones had lived in Atlanta since boyhood and for more than 30 years had been in business here. He was with the Atlanta Woodware Company and Schoenfeld Bros. for years before he became connected with the Home Owners' Loan Corporation in an executive capacity several years ago.

He was married to the former Miss Laura McCollum, a daughter of the late Major J. L. McCollum, a Confederate veteran who became major in railroad circles. Major McCollum was general superintendent of the N. & W. R. railroad for nearly half a century.

The funeral will be held Thursday at his residence on Barnett street and interment will be in West View cemetery, near Brandon-Bond-Condon in charge.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by Mrs. Hester and another sister-in-law, Mrs. M. T. Garner.
